Eisenhower Appeal Sent To Bulganin

Ike Faces Question Of Support For Any U.N. Police Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower urgently appealed to Premier Bulganin today to pull Soviet troops out of Hungary and accept political independence for that battered country.

At the same time, in emergency talks at the White House, Eisenhower began shaping policy on the critical question of support for any United Nations police action in the Middle East—a question which raises the issue of use of U.S. forces.

The most likely possibility seen in diplomatic and official quarters here is that the United States probably would have to get behind any U.N. police operation with naval transportation and support, but without employing American troops.

Troops From Small Nations
The dominant feeling among top officials here, it was learned, is that the U.N. in taking such an action in a small nation like Egypt should draw troops from other small nations and thus avoid any question of a big power moving in.

Eisenhower sent his message to Bulganin after he met in an extraordinary Sunday conference this afternoon with the acting secretary of state, Herbert Hoover Jr., and Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency and brother of the ailing secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

In a statement Eisenhower said the White House conference discussed "the ways and means available to the United States which would result in:

"1. Withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary.

"2. Achieve for Hungary its own right of self-determination in the choice of its own government."

Delicate Problems For Ike
The President then said he had sent "an urgent message to Premier Bulganin on these points."

Seldom, if ever in this nation's history has the President had to face such delicate and dangerous problems two days before a national election as Eisenhower was confronted with in the world situation this weekend.

He was handicapped, moreover, by the loss of the services of Secretary Dulles, the man on whom he has relied for his whole four years in the White House to chart and direct the tactics of U.S. foreign policy.

Officials agreed that while the administration had to work on every possible line of action to try and save maximum freedom for the people of Hungary, there were very few "ways and means available" to the President to do something.

Four Are Wounded By Berserk Gunman

ANN ARBOR, Mich. Nov. 4 (AP)—Four persons were wounded, one critically, today by a berserk gunman who blazed away at passersby with a shotgun in the streets of the nearby resort community of Horseshoe Lake.

Sheriff Erwin L. Klager identified the gunman as Harold Saylor, 29, and said the man told him he was a Kentucky ex-convict.

Saylor, his reloading 12-gauge gun by his side, was found unconscious in underbrush into which he fled.

Surgery Reveals Dulles Had Cancer Of Intestine

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Emergency surgery on Secretary of State Dulles revealed that the 68-year-old Cabinet member was stricken with an intestinal cancer, the State Department said today.

Press officer Lincoln White disclosed this to newsmen at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, where Dulles was reported in "good" condition after yesterday's 2½-hour operation.

Savage Soviet Assault Stuns U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Top officials were so stunned by Russia's sudden assault on Hungary today that some wondered whether party chief Nikita Khrushchev may have lost his dominant position within the Kremlin high command.

With Secretary of State Dulles sidelined by an emergency operation, the acting secretary, Herbert Hoover Jr., called in key aides to ponder what could be done about Hungary's desperate appeals for help.

Cable and telephone communications to the American legation in Budapest were reported interrupted frequently as officials strove to learn firsthand of developments in the Hungarian capital.

For the moment, at least, the new Hungarian flareup shoved aside the dangerous Middle East fighting as the No. 1 foreign policy problem confronting this government.

Ike In Close Touch

President Eisenhower was reported keeping in close touch with the Hungarian developments as well as those in the Middle East where British and French forces were embarking on Cyprus for an expected landing in Egypt.

Officials said the Russian attack on Hungary constituted an amazing about face in the latest Soviet policy.

A savage Russian military crackdown on Poland may be next, they feared, if the Soviets now have decided to abandon their post-Stalin tactics of granting more freedom in the East European satellites.

Some authorities speculated that Khrushchev, who is generally regarded as chief advocate of the softer policies, may have lost his battle within the Kremlin to push ahead in this direction despite the mounting tide of anti-Russian sentiment evident in the satellites during the last few months.

Anglo-French Move Factor
A Kremlin clique of Stalinists including ex-Foreign Minister Molotov has been reported opposing Khrushchev's policies.

Most officials agreed that the British-French military attack on Egypt undoubtedly was a critical factor in the Soviet decision to order Red troops, tanks, guns and planes unleashed against the Hungarians.

Kremlin leaders may have decided, they said, that if international morality was to be suspended for a while in the Middle East, Russia too might as well solve its Hungarian problem by brute force figuring Russia would look no worse than Britain and France in the eyes of the world.

TOKYO, Nov. 4 (AP)—A freight train carrying construction materials to a dam 30 miles from Tokyo ran off the tracks and plunged into a river in a suburb today, killing six persons.

UN To Recruit Troops From Small Powers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (Monday) Nov. 5 (AP)—The emergency U.N. Assembly today officially created a Middle East police force recruited from the "small powers and commanded by the Palestine truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns.

The Assembly specifically excluded the big powers, United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and Nationalist China, from contributing to the peace police force.

The Assembly vote was 57-0 with 19 abstaining.

The delegates acted shortly after U.S. chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and others appealed again to Britain, France, Israel and Egypt to accept the Assembly cease-fire.

Lodge pledged fullest cooperation by the United States with the new force. He said Washington would furnish transportation, supplies, an airlift and shipping for it.

New Zealand, Canada, Norway and Colombia were the first to offer contributions. Canada was reported to be considering at least a battalion but the others did not specify what they would do.

U.N. Secretary Appeals For Immediate Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld appealed urgently to Britain, France, Egypt and Israel today to stop fighting immediately in compliance with the cease-fire recommendation of the General Assembly.

Hammarskjöld acted on behalf of the Assembly and under orders given him early Sunday by a 59-5 vote. The Assembly noted that the warring parties had not complied with its cease-fire call of last Friday and renewed the plea.

Hammarskjöld dispatched cable messages to the foreign ministers of Britain, France, Egypt and Israel direct instead of following the usual diplomatic channels through the delegations. He was authorized by the Assembly to arrange immediately with the four countries for carrying out the cease-fire, the halting of the movement of military forces and arms into the area, and withdrawal of all forces behind the armistice lines.

He was ordered to report replies.

Car's Plunge In River Kills 5 Teen-Agers

NELSON, Wis., Nov. 4 (AP)—Five teen-agers were killed last night when their car went out of control on a winding approach to a bridge spanning the Mississippi River. It smashed through a plank guard rail and sank in 40 feet of water.

Authorities identified the dead, all from Minnesota, as:

George Billings, 17, Francis Kreve, 15, Marlene Hanson, 14, and Joan Zeimet, 15, all from Wabasha, and Jerry Haley, 16, from Kellogg.

Authorities said the five attended a dance earlier at Arkan saw, Wis., and were on their way home at the time of the accident 1½ miles west of this tiny community in northwestern Wisconsin's Buffalo County.

Big Invasion Force Moves Toward Suez

Landings Imminent; French Battleship Sunk, Cairo Claims

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Omar Loutfi, Egyptian delegate, said tonight the "forces of aggression tried to land in Egypt today and they were engaged."

The statement was made in a speech before an emergency meeting of the U. N. General Assembly.

It was not clear whether he referred to some minor operation or whether the expected British-French landing operation had started.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—British and French troops in battle dress boarded an invasion fleet off Cyprus today. Its task is to seize the Suez Canal from Egyptians who vow to fight until death.

French-British headquarters in Cyprus said the troops went aboard the invasion armada at an unnamed port. Announcement of landings was expected at any moment.

Cairo declared an invasion attempt was already under way, with Egyptian coastal batteries hitting and sinking a French battleship and a British destroyer. The British and French said they had no word of the sinkings. The British added: "It seems unlikely."

Damascus radio quoted an Egyptian military spokesman who said coastal batteries sank the British destroyer near Sharm el Sheikh at the entrance to Suez Bay—the southern terminus of the canal.

The only French battleship in the area is the 35,000-ton Jean Bart.

Reports Unconfirmed

Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency said Egypt's naval forces scored a direct hit and sank a 7,000-ton French destroyer 12 miles off the Nile River delta in the Mediterranean. The unconfirmed report received in Damascus said the destroyer, with 600 aboard, was carrying French commando units.

Similar Egyptian claims of sinking a British troop carrier and capturing three others at Bir Kossima in the Sinai Peninsula during their drive to the canal.

French and British bombers pounded coastal and anti-aircraft installations in the canal area in a continued softening-up process prior to an actual invasion attempt. British-French headquarters in Cyprus said.

Damascus radio, relaying Egyptian claims, said seven British and French planes were shot down during a two-hour raid on Cairo. The British have admitted only the loss of one fighter plane thus far.

Israeli Concern Aroused

The Israelis were concerned primarily for the moment with threats to their eastern border. An official statement addressed to the U.N. emergency General Assembly session reported both Iraqi and Syrian troops in Jordan and declared this had aroused Israeli concern "for the cause of peace."

Latest Israeli claim to military success was the reported capture of two Tiran islands which command the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba. This would give Israeli shipping unchallenged entrance to the gulf and to its main port of Elath on the southeast tip of Israel. Egyptian artillery on the two small islands had blocked Israeli ships from using the port of Elath, which is connected by road with Jerusalem and Tel Aviv.

President Eisenhower, after attending church yesterday and visiting his hospitalized secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, returned to the White House to study anew grave problems of foreign policy. These were posed by Russia's heavy onslaught to crush rebellious Hungary and the apparently imminent British-French landing in Egypt.

Stevenson, whom the polls and dopesters pictured as the probable loser in Tuesday's election, strove unrelentingly in the eleventh hour to prove the forecasts wrong.

Virtually sleepless from a night of following the foreign news at his Libertyville, Ill., home, Stevenson wired a suggestion to Eisenhower in the early morning. He asked the President to urge the United Nations to:

"Mobilize large teams of official observers and fly them into Hungary, or at least the still free parts of Hungary, and also into any other satellite nation such as Poland, that might welcome or consent to their presence."

This, he said, "might help to save Poland from a fate similar to Hungary's."

"The Russian attack was started at 4 a.m.

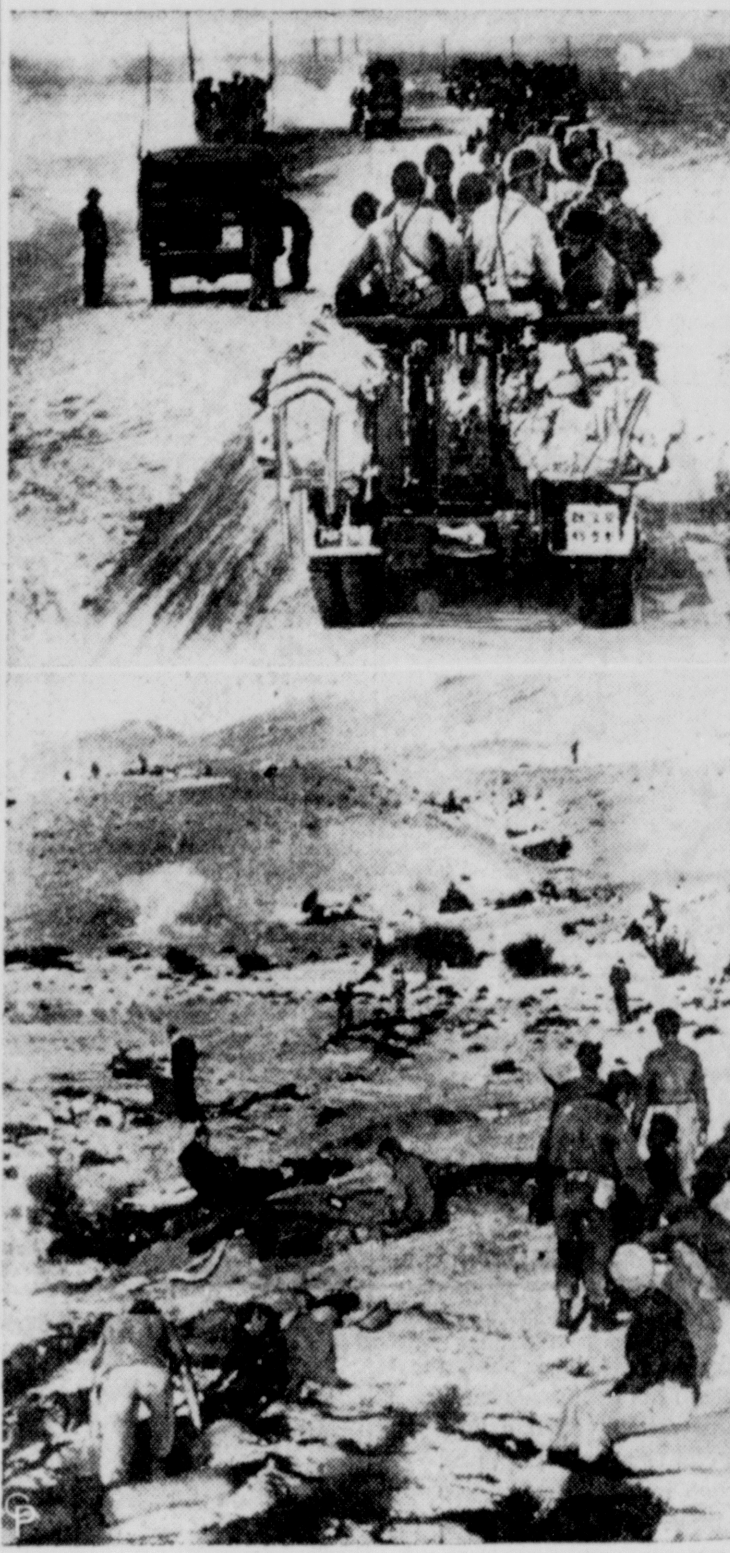

"The Russian MIG fighters are over Budapest. Győr—rebel stronghold in western Hungary—is completely surrounded by the Russians. Szekestehervar does not answer."

"If you have anything from the Austrian government, tell me. Urgent, urgent, urgent."

"Long live Hungary and Europe. We shall die for Hungary and Europe."

"Any news about help? Quickly, quickly, quickly...."

Election Campaign Nears Tense Finale

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY Associated Press Staff Writer

The 1956 election campaign drove toward a tense finale Sunday with the anguished S.O.S. of Hungarian freedom fighters and the crash of bombers on Egypt, echoing in the ears of the sovereign American voter.

Once again—as in 1916 and the fateful 1940s—the din of war continents away had crowded domestic issues in the background.

Suddenly in the last few days, campaign speakers and strategists across the nation had begun to hammer home this question for decision in Tuesday's election:

Are the Republicans under Dwight D. Eisenhower or the Democrats under Adlai E. Stevenson best fitted to steer the country's course in a world that could become swiftly unhinged?

President Eisenhower, after attending church yesterday and visiting his hospitalized secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, returned to the White House to study anew grave problems of foreign policy. These were posed by Russia's heavy onslaught to crush rebellious Hungary and the apparently imminent British-French landing in Egypt.

Stevenson, whom the polls and dopesters pictured as the probable loser in Tuesday's election, strove unrelentingly in the eleventh hour to prove the forecasts wrong.

Russia Uses Armed Might To Oust Nagy

Red Regime Set Up; Rebel Radios Beg For Western Aid

VIENNA, Nov. 4 (AP)—Soviet military might apparently smashed Hungary's freedom movement today. The Russians installed a Communist government patterned after the new Polish regime.

Communist radio stations asserted the anti-Communist revolt was crushed under the weight of Soviet tanks, guns and planes.

They trumpeted that the government of Premier Imre Nagy, the nationalistic Communist, "fell apart and has ceased to exist."

But the Communists acknowledged Hungarians still fought Russians in the rubble of Budapest. The Hungarian capital was caught in a vise of armor by the sudden Soviet onslaught launched before dawn Sunday.

Rebel radios still operated furtively as Soviet columns sought them out. The radios called for Western help.

"We will hold out to our last drop of blood," the rebels vowed. Budapest radio, which carried Nagy's frantic early morning appeals for world help, was in the hands of the Soviet-supported regime.

Nagy Reported Prisoner

The radio said the new regime had repudiated Nagy's appeal to the U. N. to guarantee a free and neutral Hungary.

The appeal, said Budapest radio, "has no legal force and cannot be regarded as an appeal sent by Hungary as a state."

Moscow and other Communist radios denounced Nagy as a tool of "reactionary enemies of Hungary." They boasted Nagy was a prisoner. The rebels said he was safe.

The Communist radio at Nyireghyza in eastern Hungary said the new government of Hungarian Communist boss Janos Kadar "is deeply and sincerely convinced that order and calmness will be restored in the whole country in the next few days."

The radio pleaded with workers to go back to their jobs.

The Soviet armored units brushed aside 50 nationalist tanks surrounding Parliament building to score their victory in Budapest, under the light of phosphorus shells.

Mother, 4 Children Die In Car-Bus Crash

CARLTON, Ga., Nov. 4 (AP)—A mother and her four children were killed today when their car skidded on slick pavement and slid broadside into the path of an on-coming double-decked bus.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Mary D. Smith, 40, of Abbeville, S. C., from a driver's license found in the wreckage. The children were Sammy 14, Linda 11, Andy 6, and James, about 4.

They were the family of George A. Smith, a railroad fireman and part owner of an Abbeville appliance store.

The car looked as if it had exploded on impact with the bus. All five occupants were hurled from the car.

The impact crushed the front end of the Greyhound bus and pinned the driver's legs but he was not hurt seriously. Two passengers also received minor injuries.

Immediate Withdrawal Is Ordered

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly tonight condemned the Soviet Union for her military intervention in Hungary and ordered the immediate withdrawal of all Soviet forces from Hungarian territory.

The action came at an emergency meeting of the 76-nation body called into session after Russia had vetoed a similar resolution in an unprecedented pre-dawn meeting of the Security Council.

The vote was 50-8. Fifteen countries abstained.

The Soviet bloc cast the only negative votes.

The approved resolution had been submitted by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., after consultations with President Eisenhower. Lodge denounced the Soviet Union for "wholesale brutality" in Hungary.

'Puppet Clique'

The U. S. delegate made an impassioned appeal before an emergency meeting of the 76-nation General Assembly for quick action to order Soviet troops out of Hungary and to stop Soviet interference in Hungarian affairs.

Lodge hinted that the United States might not recognize the new government of Janos Kadar. He called the Kadar government a "small group of straw men—a puppet clique" and referred repeatedly to Nagy as prime minister.

At the last minute, Lodge introduced a change in his formal proposal on the Hungarian situation to substitute the word "condemns" for "deplores" in referring to Russia's military action.

The meeting took place in an atmosphere of extreme tension, with anti-Soviet demonstrators marching outside in United Nations Plaza and the President of the Assembly being forced to rap repeatedly for order.

Red 'Duplicité' Denounced

Lodge and other delegates received prolonged applause as they denounced what several called the "duplicité" of the Soviet moves. The galleries were filled to capacity with additional crowds seeking admission.

The U. S. resolution won quick support. It not only called for an end of the fighting and a withdrawal of Soviet troops, but proposed a special U. N. mission to investigate the situation and an observation group to keep an eye on developments inside Hungary.

The U. S. move came as Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev protested vigorously against any U. N. discussion of the Hungarian question. Sobolev said U. N. intervention would amount to meddling in the internal affairs of Hungary.

Adlai Asks Ike Urge U.N. Team Be Sent To Hungary

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Nov. 4 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today urged United Nations for help. May I therefore President Eisenhower to take recommendation that you at once set swift steps toward flying United Nations Peace Observation Commission which was created in 1950.

Such action by the U. N. might under the uniting-for-peace resolution, he said, and "might help to save Poland from a fate similar to Hungary's."

"This would make it possible for the United Nations to mobilize nominee asked the President to lead fly them into Hungary, or at request the U. N. to put the planless the still-free parts of Hungary into effect as soon as possible, and also into other satellite nations, such as Poland, that Stevenson's telegram to Eisenhower might welcome or consent to their help—his Republican opponent's presence."

In Tuesday's election—was made "I believe that this step, explicated by Stevenson's news secreting through action the will of the United Nations, might help to followed developments through Hungary's. These U. N. teams, night—developments capped by representing the whole world, not Russia's attack on rebellious Hungary should be a restraining influence, but their presence in Hungary might also benefit that suffering."

Stevenson's message set forth, if they can be gotten in, his plan this way:

"Premier Nagy of Hungary has country."

Probe Reports GOP "War Fund" Twice As Large As Demos

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Democratic-led Senate Elections Subcommittee reported tonight, less than 36 hours before the national election, that the Republicans went into the closing days of the campaign with more than twice as much money as the Democrats.

This was one of the principal findings in an "interim report" on campaign finances, prepared by the subcommittee staff and released by Chairman Gore (D-Tenn.).

The voluminous document drew a sharp protest from Sen. Curtis of Nebraska, the three-man subcommittee's only Republican member. The third member is Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.).

Curtis said in a statement that the report "is slanted for political purposes and is issued in an attempt to influence votes."

Gore replied that the report "very well may, as Sen. Curtis indicates, influence many people." But he added in a statement:

"... I made a pledge to present the facts to the American people before the election, rather than after. This I have done. The chips must lay where they fall."

It was believed to be the first report of its kind ever issued in advance of a national election.

Among the report's principal findings were these:

1. As of Oct. 21, Republican groups active in the presidential and senatorial campaigns reported cash on hand totaling $3,678,000. Comparable Democratic groups reported $1,091,000 and the political committees of organized labor listed $520,000. The report said labor union funds should for practical purposes, be listed in the Democratic column.

Miscellaneous funds brought the total cash on hand for all the political groups to $5,327,000.

2. Between Sept. 1 and Oct. 21, the Republican party reported direct expenditures of $5,743,000, compared with $3,071,000 for the Democrats and $216,000 for labor.

State Brewers Would Not Bar Canadian Firm

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—The way is now apparently open for the Canadian-controlled Carling Brewing Co. to build a brewery in Maryland if it still wants to do so.

Yesterday, Maryland brewers noting moves to open Canadian markets to American beer, announced they were abandoning efforts to gain passage of a bill designed to prevent foreign-controlled corporations from producing beer in Maryland.

The controversial measure—Senate Bill 38—was passed by the last session of the General Assembly after Carling, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Canadian breweries Ltd., had announced plans to build a brewery in suburban Baltimore.

Gov. McKeldin vetoed the measure after receiving a letter from the U. S. Department of State which made it clear the department thought the bill would be bad for general trade relations and embarrassing to the United States.

The bill would require that any corporation seeking a license to produce beer in Maryland be owned by a majority of stockholders who are citizens of the United States.

The Legislature will vote to sustain or override the governor's veto as a first piece of business when it reconvenes in January.

The new stand on the bill was announced in a letter to legislators who supported it from Secretary George Hocker of Associated Brewers Inc.

Russia Protests 'Illegal Blockade'

MOSCOW, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Soviet Union protested to Britain and France today against what it called illegal blockade of the eastern Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

Identical notes delivered to the British and French embassies charged that by establishing zones closed to shipping their governments were guilty of violating the Constantinople Convention of 1888 guaranteeing passage through the Suez Canal in both peace and war.

"The Soviet Union considers the aforementioned act aggression not only against Egypt, but also against other states," the notes said. "The Soviet Union cannot ignore these unlawful actions."

Stevenson Joins Grandfather Ranks

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Nov. 4 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson became a grandfather today and he was "elated" about it.

A boy, weighing 9 pounds, 7 ounces, was born in Boston's Lying-in-Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson Jr. Adlai Jr. telephoned the tidings to the Democratic presidential nominee at his farm home near here.

N. Y. Times Sees Ike Re-Elected

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—The New York Times said today its survey of voter sentiment in the 48 states indicates the re-election Tuesday of the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket by a "comfortable" majority. It forecast continued Democratic control of Congress.

The Times said it "seemed doubtful," however, that President Eisenhower's popular vote plurality would be as great as the 6,621,642-vote margin he rang up in 1952 against Adlai E. Stevenson, then as now the Democratic presidential nominee.

Barring a landslide for Eisenhower, the Times said, the Democrats should retain or possibly increase their margin of control in both the House and Senate.

The Times, which supports Eisenhower editorially, made its prediction on the election's outcome on the basis of surveys conducted by Times correspondents in every state.

The surveys showed, the Times said, that Eisenhower seems assured of carrying 27 states with 285 electoral votes, 19 more than necessary for election by a majority of the 531-member Electoral College.

State's Per Capita Income Expected To Hit New High

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Personal income in Maryland is expected to reach a new high of more than 6 billion dollars in 1956, researchers at the University of Maryland said.

The state's per capita personal income was $1,739 in 1955, the report said.

Total personal income for Maryland last year was $5,463,000,000.

This should go to more than 6 billion this year, according to a publication, "Personal Income in Maryland," released today by the bureau of business and economic research in the University's College of Business and Public Administration.

The study explores income changes in Maryland and the nation since 1929.

It said about 25 per cent of Maryland's personal income is in the form of government disbursements with manufacturing wages in second place at 20 per cent. Property income accounts for about 12 per cent of the personal income, and farming less than 2 per cent.

Official U. S. statistics on state income are not released until 9 months after the end of the year to which they apply. However, since a high correlation exists between such income and state bank deposits the researchers based their estimates on this correlation.

Maryland's per capita personal income totaled $1,770 in 1944, slipped to $1,613 in 1945 and had climbed to $1,739 last year, based on what the report termed "constant dollars."

Masons Harvest Corn

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—It took 15,000 cups of coffee, 750 pumpkin pies and 1,250 pounds of beef, but the corn at the Bonnie Bink Masonic home for the aged got harvested.

More than 4,000 Masons from throughout the State swarmed through the fields yesterday to harvest the home's 30 acres of corn. The grain is used as feed for the 40 cows kept at the 350-acre Baltimore County farm.

"No War" Melee

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A crowd shouting "no war" marched on 10 Downing St. tonight as Prime Minister Eden met there with his Cabinet discussing the Suez and Hungarian crises. Police blocked the march, but for hours upwards of 20,000 persons tied up Trafalgar Square as Labor party orators cried "Eden must go."

Scotland Yard reported 20 arrests. Scores of other persons were injured in the wildest demonstration London has seen since the unemployment riots of the 1930s.

House, Senate Races Take On Added Import

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—There'll be plenty of excitement in Tuesday's election of Senate and House members—and the importance of the outcome justifies it.

Much of the excitement will be concentrated in a dozen states where Senate races are close, and in about 60 of the 435 congressional districts.

The party that wins Congress, even if it wins narrowly, will largely control the decisions on what laws are passed in the next two years and what stands America takes in the troubled world.

Democrats control Congress now, 49-47 in the Senate, and 230-201 in the House, with four vacancies.

It's generally agreed the Democrats have a far stronger chance of holding on to Congress than they have of replacing President Eisenhower in the White House with Adlai Stevenson.

Here are the contrary congressional claims:

Democratic—To hold onto their two-vote edge in the Senate and to pick up at least 13 more House seats. That would make their House majority 245 to 190, assuming they will fill two of the vacancies left by Republicans.

Republicans—To gain at least one seat in the Senate, which would make the division there 48-48. They figure on re-election of Vice President Nixon and he, as presiding officer of the Senate, could break tie votes. The Republicans also say they will pick up not less than 25 House seats, which would put them ahead there 228 to 207, again assuming retention of vacant seats.

Some big prizes go with control of Congress—the chairmanships and majorities on every committee. The party in control normally decides what legislation is to be even considered. It determines how and when bills shall be taken

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠10 4 ♥J10 7 5 ♦K 8 2 ♠AJ 9 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass
 1 hearts Pass 2

What do you bid now?
A.—Partner has insisted upon a game contract despite the warning that you might have a very weak hand with no particular fit. Actually you have the maximum holding on which a one no trump response may be made, to wit: Nine points with a few trimmings in the way of tens. To show that you had a glamorous raise it is necessary to bid one more heart than is necessary. The suggested call is therefore five hearts, which must surely be safe. Certainly partner cannot expect more than this, else you would have made a more constructive response.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠K J 9 ♥K Q 7 4 ♦A Q 6 2 ♠7 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 heart Pass 1 no trump Pass
 1 heart Pass 2

What do you bid now?
A.—Having reached the conclusion that there is no possible game in the hand you must then ponder the question whether partner can be trusted with a one no trump contract. In these columns the chivalrous attitude is always favored, and pass is indicated. Partner's known maximum is nine points which together with your 10 does not add up to the required 26. This is a balanced hand and a bid of two diamonds while it might occasionally work out satisfactorily, would in the long run be losing tactics.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠J 7 5 4 2 ♥6 3 ♦K Q 6 4 2 ♠5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 heart Double Pass 1 spade Pass 2

What do you bid now?
A.—Despite the fact that you have only six points in high cards this is a good hand facing a partner who is strong enough to double and then bid no trump. The recommended bid is two diamonds, tho a bid of three diamonds could not be severely criticized. Partner could not reasonably expect much more, inasmuch as you responded with only one spade, not two.

Q. 4—Partner opens with two hearts and you hold:
♠9 5 ♥J 7 5 3 ♦K 7 4 ♠K 5 3 2
What is your response?
A.—Under the conditions this is a good hand and the proper response is three hearts. With normal trump support and seven points the immediate raise should be given.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠AKJ 9 2 ♥A 7 ♦K Q J 4 ♠K 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass 2
What do you bid now?
A.—You should not be satisfied with anything less than game, but you should make every effort to insure reaching game in the best contract. This can be done by a forcing rebid of three diamonds. Such a bid will allow partner to show a preference for spades at the level of three if he happens to have such a preference. A jump rebid of three spades would not be forcing and partner might pass. If partner does not care for spades he will no doubt bid three no trump, which you are prepared to pass.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠K 9 6 ♥K Q 9 5 3 ♦A 10 2 ♠9 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 heart 2 clubs 2 spades Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—It is true that you have opened a minimum hand but in the meantime it has improved by reason of the pro- vided value of the king of spades. Your partner has forced you to rebid at the level of three and must, there- fore, have a very strong hand. The suggested bid is three spades rather than a rebid of your own suit. Free bids by responders in suits higher in rank than the opener's suit are very drastic acts and should consequently be accorded great respect.

Q. 7—Partner opens with one spade and you hold:
♠K J 10 2 ♥6 3 2 ♦7 5 3 ♠A Q 2
What is your response?
A.—This hand is not as good as it looks at first blush. While it has 10 high card points it is not rich in playing strength, and the suggested response is two spades. If partner is unwilling to make another bid, it is doubtful that a game will be missed.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠A 2 ♥10 8 6 5 3 ♦A J 6 2 ♠K Q
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 spade Pass 2 hearts Pass 2 hearts Pass 2

What do you bid now?
A.—There can be no reasonable doubt that this hand will produce 12 tricks and a direct bid of six hearts would be acceptable. However, if partner has the three top honors in hearts and the right sort of hand a grand slam may be reached. So that the recommended bid at this point is five diamonds.

 gently for help from the West, seized their pistols, tommy guns and gasoline bombs and went forth again to battle alongside Hungary's army against the giant of the Communist world.

The Russians quickly claimed overthrow of the broad coalition government Nagy formed at the weekend and announced creation of a new regime under Janos Kadar, the old Communist party boss who had posed as a turn- coat and served as one of Nagy's ministers.

They reported they had captured Nagy, who appealed to the world for help in "the battle against this aggression" in a dramatic broadcast in the night over Radio Budapest.

The rebels said Nagy was safely hidden.

Mindszenty Escapes

Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, a more prominent world figure, escaped the Russian vise. The Roman Catholic prelate, freed by Hun- garian troops only last Tuesday from house arrest in a heavily guarded castle, took refuge in the U. S. legation in Budapest.

From early morning until it was silenced in midmorning, Radio Budapest reiterated Nagy's ap- peals for aid. Telephone and tele- gram lines from Hungary to Aus- tria later went dead, apparently snapped by the Russians.

Refugees, some wounded, streamed across the Austrian border in a snowstorm. Many of the men only escorted weeping wives and children to the line, embraced them and turned back to join the rebel lines facing up to Soviet steel.

The Russian attack was launched in some areas at 2 a.m., a few hours after Hungarian and Soviet generals had opened talks on technical details for the with- drawal of all Soviet troops from Hungary.

Maj. Gen. Pál Maleter, defense minister, and the rest of his Hun- garian negotiating delegation, was captured.

Nagy had regarded the prelimi- nary talks Saturday as encourag- ing in the light of the Kremlin's declaration Tuesday that it want- ed all Communist countries to be completely sovereign and would dicker on troop withdrawals. Nagy had declared Hungary's determi- nation to quit the Warsaw Pact, the eight-nation alliance binding Communist Eastern Europe under Soviet military leadership.

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car—it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Some- times a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive —a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dream-book: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushion- ing action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power- Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!

West Virginians Face Big Ballot

Citizens Must Decide Races From National To County Level

West Virginians who go to the polls tomorrow in the Mountain State's 55 counties will have to make selections from a multitude of candidates for offices ranging from President of the United States to justice of the peace and constable in the various magisterial districts of each county.

After making a selection in the Eisenhower-Stevenson race, voters in West Virginia must also elect a new United States Senator, a member of Congress in six different districts, fill eight state offices starting with the Governor, elect state senators, fill numerous county and district offices.

Foes For Senate

The Senate race pits Governor William C. Marland, Democrat, against former Senator Chapman Revercomb, Republican, for the unexpired remainder of the term of the late Harley M. Kilgore.

In the Second Congressional District, Harley O. Staggers seeks re-election on the Democratic ticket against the opposition of Mrs. Davis Elkins.

Democratic candidates on the state ticket are Robert H. Mollohan for Governor; D. Pitt O'Brien for Secretary of State; W. W. Trent for Superintendent of Schools; Edgar B. Simms for Auditor; Orel J. Skeen for Treasurer; W. W. Barron for Attorney General; John T. Johnson for Commissioner of Agriculture; Leslie E. Given for Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals.

GOP Candidates

Their Republican rivals are Cecil H. Underwood for Governor; Holt Byrne for Secretary of State; R. Virgil Rohrbaugh for Superintendent of Schools; E. Ray Reed for Auditor; Theodore T. Dorman for Parsons for Treasurer; John A. Field Jr. for Attorney General; Nicholas M. Holmes for Commissioner of Agriculture; Dayton Stemple for Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals.

On the Senatorial ticket in the 18th Senatorial District, Democrat Ralph J. Bean of Moorefield is unopposed. In the 15th District Millard S. Goltightly of Davis, Democrat, opposes A. L. Reed, Republican, of Newburg.

Sample ballots submitted to The Cumberland News from Hampshire County show that seven county officers there are to be filled but only three of the Democratic candidates face Republican opposition. The contests are for clerk of Circuit Court where Howard A. Mulleddy of Romney, Democrat, is opposed by Clarence L. Smith of Kirby; for House of Delegates where John R. Blue of Romney is the Democratic candidate and Ben F. Slane of Cold Stream his Republican rival, and for County Commissioner where Herbert F. Smith, Augusta Democrat, is pitted against Republican Arno W. Shingleton of Romney. Unopposed Democrats are Melvin R. Hott for Sheriff, Ralph W. Haines for Prosecuting Attorney, R. E. Stewart for clerk of County Court and C. T. Thompson for Assessor.

No District Candidates

There are no candidates in Hampshire County's Capon District for Justice of the Peace or for Constable.

In Hardy County only one of the seven Democratic aspirants for county offices is opposed. He is James M. Miley of Moorefield who faces H. Gus Munzing, also of Moorefield. Unopposed Democrats are Thomas J. Hawse for Sheriff, Lewis S. Moomau for Prosecuting Attorney, C. E. Hott for County Commissioner, Anton M. Keller for Assessor, Robert M. Gamble for clerk of County Court and for clerk of Circuit Court.

Hardy County Democratic candidates for Justice of the Peace, unopposed, are Maurice Beall in Capon District and P. W. Clarke in Moorefield District. Unopposed Democrats for constable in Capon District are Reubertis Miller and Elias G. Anderson.

Tucker Contests

Tucker County has six contests for county offices. The rivals, Democrat listed first in each case, are A. S. Hockman and Jack D. Crosten for Sheriff; Joseph R. Gilmore and Gerald H. Parks for House of Delegates

Keyser Names Miss Judy Alt School Queen

Crowning Features Homecoming Events

KEYSER — Miss Judy Alt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alt, Maple Avenue, was crowned Homecoming Queen between the halves of the Keyser-Petersburg High School football game Friday afternoon on Stadium Field.

The crowning was the climax of a pageant, depicting a series of scenes of the past—prior to World War I, and continuing to the present day, wearing dresses of the year gone, to the present queen.

Miss Pamela Franklin, Homecoming Queen of 1955, crowned the new queen who was presented with a bouquet of yellow mums. Russell Bishop, president of the Keyser High School Alumni Association, presented the two runners-up, Louise Pyles and Donna Lee Ashenfelter, a yellow mum corsage.

The Keyser High School band participated in the ceremony, marched to the visitors' stand and saluted the school in forming a letter "P" and then moved to the Keyser Stand and gave the grid salute. During these ceremonies the Keyser band played a new song, "Keyser High School Alma Mater," written by Paul Rouser, retired teacher, with music by Nunzio Barbera, director of the band.

A parade was staged through the business district during the early afternoon in which there were members of the faculty and various activity groups, led by the school band. The Homecoming dance was held Friday evening at which time the new queen was presented and then reigned through the evening. During intermission, the School Alumni Association presented a loving cup to the new queen, and honored the outstanding linesman and backfield player.

W. Va. Legion Endorses Bonus To Korean Vets

PIEDMONT — The officials of the West Virginia Department of the American Legion have endorsed the passage of the proposed Korean Veterans Bonus Amendment to be voted upon November 6, according to William Hood, commander of Kelly Mansfield Post 52, American Legion.

If passed the amendment will be presented to the West Virginia Legislature in January for the necessary legislation to fulfill the constitutional amendment.

The proposed amendment would pay a bonus to all persons who were on active duty with the armed forces between June 27, 1950 and July 27, 1953. The amount of the bonus would be $10 for each month served outside the limits of the United States. A maximum amount of $300 would be paid to those who served only within the States and $400 to those who served outside the States.

To be eligible for the bonus, veterans must have been honorably discharged from service. The proposed bonus would also be paid to disabled veterans and to the next of kin of deceased veterans.

Man Sentenced To Year For Fatal Crash

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — A 25-year-old Upper Tract man who was involved in a fatal auto accident which claimed the lives of two persons, has been found guilty of negligent homicide and sentenced to a year in county jail.

Eugene Kimble was found guilty by a Pendleton County Circuit Court jury Wednesday and sentenced by Judge Harlan M. Calhoun.

Kimble was charged with negligently driving an automobile last April 22 and causing an accident which resulted in the death of Dr. Thomas G. McAllister Jr., and his wife of Johnstown, Pa. The accident occurred on U. S. 220 about 5.7 miles north of Upper Tract. Injured in the accident were the McAllisters' two-year-old daughter, Ralph William Radcliffe, 29, of Upper Tract; Roy J. Kimble, also of Upper Tract, and the accused man.

According to State Police, the McAllister and Kimble vehicles crashed head-on on a slight curve and grade. The McAllisters were pronounced dead at the scene.

The trial, which began Tuesday, had been delayed several times because Radcliffe, one of Kimble's witnesses, had been in the hospital receiving treatment for an eye which was removed as a result of the accident.

The prosecution claimed Kimble was speeding and driving in a reckless manner; and that he was on the wrong side of the road. Kimble did not take the stand in his own defense but witnesses for him denied prosecution charges.

Jurors deliberated a half hour before returning a verdict. Court refused a motion by the defense that Kimble be given several days to arrange his affairs before beginning his sentence.

The case was the last for the current term of court. The next term begins December 4.

Vote! And Fulfill Your Obligation

For all practical purposes the election campaign is over. The candidates have had their say and tomorrow the voters will have theirs. We hope you will be counted among those who went to the polls.

The Cumberland News has endorsed the Republican candidates—President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, Senator Butler and Congressman Hyde—and hopes all of them will be returned to office with a vote of confidence so that the Republican program of the past four years can be continued. As we asked earlier in the campaign, "Why trade experience for inexperience?" And another pertinent question might be asked, "Why trade proved ability for untried?"

Nonetheless, the decision is up to the voters who tomorrow can exercise that precious privilege of casting a secret ballot.

We were impressed in the last few days by a story told by former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan of the Court of Appeals, who related an account of a man who years ago walked 32 miles in order to vote.

What a contrast that is to the present, when many registered voters forsake this privilege for expediency or the excuse of pressing business. And the countless others who want to be driven to the polls even though they are physically fit.

Not only is it a privilege to vote, it is a duty. There have been more appeals and more effort exerted this year to get eligible citizens registered to vote than ever before. Organized campaigns have been put on by various organizations and the success of their efforts is attested by the increase in the registration figures.

But registering is only a part of the privilege of being an American citizen. To fulfill your obligation you should go to the polls tomorrow and vote.

We hope you vote Republican, but even if you don't, we hope you go to the polls and exercise your franchise. It's something too many people in the world can't do.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Inevitable

What Great Britain and France faced as a result of the emergence of Nasser as the Egyptian Hitler was national suicide. The United States faced nothing more grave than the nationalization of American oil companies in Arabian countries. Soviet Russia faced the possibility of establishing itself in the Mediterranean. India faced the possibility of increasing its scope as the leader of the Bandung nations.

It has been known since July when Nasser seized the Universal Suez Canal Company that Great Britain and France would have to do something specific and dramatic to save their place among nations. Under the pressure of American anti-colonialism, both were losing their place in the world, whereas Soviet Russia was emerging as the principal power on earth.

Nasser had dedicated himself to the establishment of an Arabic empire with himself at its head and had formed an alliance with Soviet Russia. Did the West have to wait until Nasser had achieved his goal? Was Cairo to be another Munich? Was Eden to be a second Chamberlain?

During the Suez Canal conferences, the British and the French followed John Foster Dulles' schemes for a Users' Association only to discover that what Dulles really meant was the development of a mechanism for further negotiations with Nasser.

It is true that when their scheme was hatched to do by force what could no longer be achieved by talk, they did not only not consult their ally, the United States, but they gave the United States no information. But that is no reason why we should not have been informed. After all, much of what developed had to be overt and this country spends hundreds of millions on an espionage organization to get at covert information. However, the truth undoubtedly is, as the President said, that we knew nothing of the joint action of Israel, France and Great Britain against Nasser.

It is startling to discover that our principal allies, Great Britain and France, do not trust the government of the United States with their plans not only because their plans differ from ours but also because they have found that somehow we always support the underdog even if he is as rabid as Nasser.

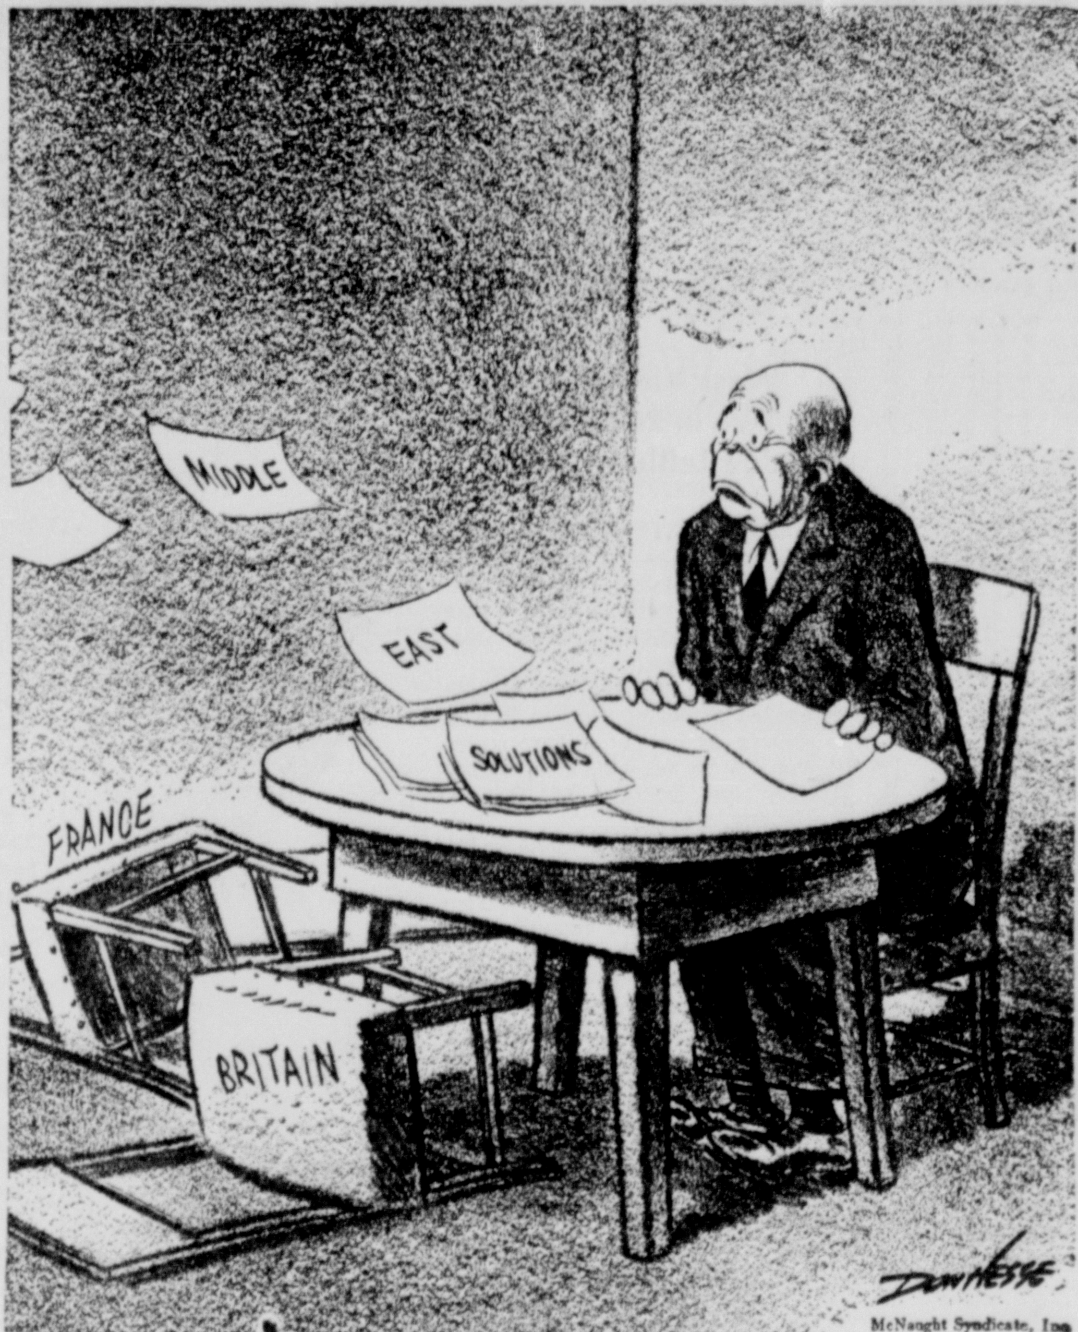

It is not easily forgotten that Holland lost her East Indian empire, France, her North African empire, Great Britain, India and Suez because of American policies pursued since the time of Woodrow Wilson. We are not, for the moment, discussing what is the right or wrong but that the United States has frightened these countries by a doctrinaire pacifism and a tendency to appease Soviet Russia, Nehru of India and now Nasser of Egypt.

The United States had its fill in the Korean War and its attitude is naturally different from that of Great Britain and France. Nevertheless, no one can do question that these have been Nasser's objectives:

1. To establish an Arabic empire with himself at its head extending over the whole of North Africa and including Jordan, Syria and eventually Iraq and Saudi Arabia;
2. To eliminate all Western influences from Africa and Arabic Asia;
3. To exterminate Israel;
4. To maintain an alliance with Soviet Russia aimed at the West;
5. Absolute control of the Suez Canal;
6. Elimination of the West from Arabian oil fields.

The West includes the United States. It is the American assumption that Nasser can be destroyed by economic pressures. It is the British and French assumption that he cannot be. If the British and French are correct, it would be too late to prove that the Americans are incorrect, because by that time, Nasser would be so strong that nothing could budge him. Therefore the British and the French acted before action became futile.

Nothing Like Good Old Dependable Allies

President Eisenhower's Re-Election Predicted

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON
Having travelled all over the country, from Portland, Ore., to Pittsburgh, Pa., to talk to the voters, these reporters are now rather nervously prepared to record their impressions of what the voters are likely to do on election day and why.

The first nervous impression is that the voters will probably re-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower by a fairly handsome majority. The second is that, contrary to general opinion, the President was not unbeatable from the start. The third is that Adlai Stevenson, despite his many virtues, was simply not the man to beat him.

Looked Different At First

Six weeks or so ago, when the campaign was just beginning to roll, we would never have dared to record the first impression above (which may, of course, make us look very foolish on November seven). For in mid-September it suddenly began to seem that Eisenhower was in real danger.

On a trip to the Northwest, one of us found a surprising number of people in the workers' districts who had voted for the President in 1952, and now said they would vote for Stevenson. On two trips to the Iowa corn-hog country, another found an even more surprising number of farmers who were ready, eager and anxious to switch.

Moreover, there was evidence that Stevenson was really beginning to register as a candidate. There was, for example, his toughly partisan, highly effective speech at the national plowing contest in Iowa, to which the huge crowd of assembled farmers responded with genuine and obvious enthusiasm.

Here, it seemed, was the much-heralded "new Stevenson," a personality and a candidate to be reckoned with. But then, toward the beginning of October, something seemed to happen to this new Stevenson.

One thing that happened to him was, quite simply, that the President jumped into the campaign with both feet. When the President jumped, moreover, he carried in with him a number of enormous assets. He had the prestige of his office, always a vast advantage to an incumbent President. He had the friendliest press any President has had in this century. He had some excellent speeches, for which his chief and for all practical purposes only speechwriter, Emmet Hughes, deserves a bow.

Glowing Personality
He also had "The Eisenhower

aura," a phenomenon first described in this space and since much commented on—the glowing personality which somehow cheers people up, makes them feel happy and confident. And yet, Eisenhower aura and all, the President was not really unbeatable.

Despite "Eisenhower prosperity" there are a great many people in this country who are discontented for one reason or another—farmers worried about losing their farms, old people, working people out of a job or badly in debt, Negroes and other minority groups who feel themselves unfairly treated and denied their share of the national economic pie.

Baering Down On The News

The women have more votes than the men but who counts?

Remember the Constitution doesn't recognize married votes. But it preambles the possible stalemate into a lull of neutrality with its detergent preamble.

Recognizing the premature aftermath of equal suffrage in a one-family bloc the Constitution solves the husband-wife embawlio in its minority overture:

"In order to form a more perfect union and insure domestic tranquility."

That's as plain as the trunk on an elephant's snuff. Way back in 1787 the founding fathers hypothesized the 1919 amendment that gave women the vote. Hindsight is better than foresight but not when there's a wreck up ahead.

It was in 1919 that the 65th Congress obliterated domestic tranquility with a corrosive and blistering amendment. It made the women equal to the men. Up until that time the gals were way ahead.

If you want to constitutionalize the domestic harmony give the wife a tranquilizing pill tonight. Vote early and when the saloons open at nine don't let the bartender change your mind.

Don't tell the wife which way you voted. A lot of the fellows who wrote that preamble weren't married.

The Rise And Decline Of Diseases Is Discussed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is natural to forget the diseases that plagued the world in other eras. The school child of today reads in his history books about our struggles with the British in pre-revolutionary days but not about enemies like cholera and yellow fever that devastated the colonies.

Even in the 19th Century, epidemics of these diseases wiped out entire communities. Their spread to the new world was understandable. They came through the trade routes from India to Western Europe and thence to Canada and the United States. Many immigrants left Ireland, for example, in 1852 to escape a cholera epidemic and the disease cropped out wherever they settled.

Yellow fever also came to us through commerce and shipping when the colonists started trading with the Caribbean and South American lands. Reservoirs of the infection lingered more than 200 years and the last yellow fever epidemic occurred in New Orleans in 1905.

What would a fearful epidemic do to the social and business life of a community today? If a thousand cases of polio are enough to throw a large city into a tizzy, what would be the effect in a city like Chicago or New York of 100,000 cases of plague, cholera, or typhoid? In an earlier era, there was no diseases and almost every family contributed a sick person, if not a life.

An epidemic of this size attacks physicians and hospitals as well as paymen. We, too, would run out of coffins and grave diggers as they did in the past. The results would be the same as though we were involved in total war. But times have changed and we can be thankful we live in a day and age free of plague and cholera.

A century ago, 60 per cent of all deaths were in children under 10 years old. Now, fewer than 6 per cent are in this age group. The death rate from tuberculosis dropped from 194.4 per 100,000 in 1900 to 15.8 in 1952; pneumonia, from 152.6 to 26.1; diphtheria, 40.3 to 0.1; typhoid, from 31.3 to 0.1; and diarrhea, from 139.9 to 4. per 100,000 population.

Meanwhile, deaths from diseases of the heart rose from 137.4 to 356.4, and cancer, from 64 to 143.4. On paper, the decrease in mortality in one age group and in infectious diseases appears to be nullified by the increase in cancer and heart disease fatalities. But it is gratifying to realize that the most prevalent causes of death are those of old age rather than of infancy and childhood.

Sen. Welker Of Idaho Receiving Financial Aid From All Over U.S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, sometimes called the "Junior Joe McCarthy," has filed a revealing list of campaign contributions with the clerk of the Senate. It shows that the big oil and gas companies have coughed up for his campaign just about as generously as they did for some of the pet projects of his colleague from Wisconsin. The list also shows a pattern of contributions from all over the USA.

For instance, Joseph N. Pew of Philadelphia, head of the Sun Oil Company (Blue Sunoco), sent a thousand dollars all the way to Idaho from Pennsylvania. As did his brother, J. Howard Pew, head of Sun Ship. So did his two sisters, Miss Mary Ethel Pew and Mrs. Mabel Lyrin. Total for the Pew family to the senator from Idaho: $4,000.

Mrs. Lammot Du Pont of Wilmington also sent $500 all the way from Delaware to Idaho for Welker. Fanny R. Wuritzer of Wuritzer music boxes also listened to the appeal of Senator Welker and sent $100 all the way from Tonawanda, N. Y. Alton Jones, head of Cities Service, was more generous. He sent $2,500. Eddie Rickenbacker, head of Eastern Airlines, sent $100. Ruth McCormick Tankersley of the Chicago Tribune family sent $100. Victor Emanuel, head of the giant American Aviation Company, sent $250.

Other contributions from $100 up to $500 came from the following wide variety of oilmen, industrialists, and bankers:

Matthew Keck, relative of Superior Oil; Bill Skelly, president of Skelly Oil, Tulsa, Okla.; John Olin of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., N. Y.; Robert Minkler, president of General Petroleum, Los Angeles; Richard Carmichael, Ray Oil Co., Dallas; Louis B. Mayer, MGM, Hollywood; R. H. Kress of five and ten cent stores fortune; Frank Belgrano of Trans America; E. R. Harriman of the Harriman investment firm in N. Y.

One interesting contribution came from F. Joseph (Jiggs) Donohue, former commissioner of the District of Columbia and campaign manager for Senator Kefauver. Donohue contributed $100. When queried about his contribution, Donohue's office explained that the stanch D. C. Democratic leader had been at a social function with Senator Welker last spring, had accepted a dare and contributed $100 as a joke.

Biggest contributor to Welker is Whitcliffe P. Draper of New York City of $5,000. His attorney, when questioned, said he did not know why Mr. Draper had contributed. Mr. Draper was inaccessible.

NOTE: Welker is almost certain to be re-elected, probably doesn't need these contributions, thanks to the fact that ex-Sen. Glen Taylor, who lost out in the Democratic primary, is staging a write-in campaign against Democratic candidate Frank Church. This Democratic split should send Welker back to the Senate for another six years.

Ike More Sympathetic

Secretary Dulles is so furious at the French and British that he has vowed not to lend them one nickel to buy American oil, in case Middle East oilfields go up in flames. President Eisenhower, however, is not as indignant and has advised Dulles to tone down his bitter anti-British and French backstage comments and concentrate on what can be done to end the fighting.

The President has ruled out any idea of economic sanctions against British and French allies, so except for an appeal to the United Nations Assembly there just isn't anything much we can do to stop hostilities.

Benson Bonanzas

Secretary of Agriculture Benson may not be a good politician most of the time, but he's learned a couple of new gimmicks in the past few weeks.

He's been concentrating the buying for the school lunch program in key political areas where it will help most before elections. The Agriculture Department agents have been buying up meat, turkeys, and eggs so energetically that in Southern Wisconsin the grocery stores are actually having trouble finding enough eggs for their regular customers.

Benson has also been rushing soil bank payments to farmers just before election, with instructions that checks must be sent to county agents and handed to farmers in person.

The Roosevelt administration set the pattern for this by rushing out checks before election, but they never went so far as to have the checks delivered by county agents. At the next election, they'll probably be tied up in blue ribbons!

Big Ed Johnson Deals

Colorado's Democratic Governor Johnson made a secret deal with Republicans to withhold his support from the Democratic senatorial candidate, John Carroll. In return, Republicans agreed to give only lukewarm support to their candidate for governor, Donald Brotzman.

This would have given the Democrats the governorship and Republicans the Senate seat. But Johnson's old friend, Sen. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, visited Denver and lectured him on party loyalty. O'Mahoney finally pressured Governor Johnson into backing Carroll. So the deal is now off.

Bonds For Israel

A tip to Jewish groups all over the U.S.A.: Bonds for Israel drives should be consummated immediately because chances are almost certain that the administration will freeze all funds to Israel shortly after elections.

Old Businesses

By Roger Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — So much is published today about electronics, atomic energy, and new gadgets of all kinds that I have been investigating what businesses have survived throughout the centuries. Let this week's column give you my report.

What Egyptian History Teaches

Probably the best evidence of what businesses are the oldest is to be found in ancient Egyptian tombs of several thousand years ago. They all contain ceramic ware, jewelry, musical instruments, tapestries and pictures. Although all these arts have had their ups and downs — or cycles — they continue to exist. Religion has also been a "big business" alternating between great influence and barbaric persecution. Gold, silver, and fine architecture have represented wealth throughout history. Although the Egyptian art and music of those early days seem crude to many of us, yet modern art and jazz have now returned to it. This definite cycle has taken place several times during the past 4,000 years. In fact, the cycle is shown in the history of Egypt itself.

Three thousand years ago Egypt was the richest and most progressive nation in the world. Then a decline came which brought poverty and chaos, finally dropping that nation into the lap of Great Britain as its poorest colony. Today's newspaper headlines are again Egypt. The great wheels even of history are slowly but constantly revolving. This means we should carefully avoid using two words — "now" and "always" — in connection with art, a profession, a business, or even a nation, or a religion.

Bible And Economic History
However readers may disagree as to the importance of daily Bible reading, the Bible gives us an excellent review of what businesses have continued through the centuries. Bankers, lawyers, and tax collectors existed then as now. Jesus even spoke a good word for the bankers (Luke XIX) although he did not want them to carry on their business in the Temple. Fishing has also survived and much of it is being carried on in the same old-fashioned way.

When we realize that stocks and bonds were unknown several centuries ago, one wonders at their permanence; yet I forecast that some form of investment will exist. Real estate has served that purpose for thousands of years. Just now we hear much about "shopping center," but the downtown Mair Street merchant who will adapt his merchandise and hours to new conditions has little to fear. The Stoia in the world's once most beautiful shopping center which flourished 2,000 years ago at Athens, Greece, has been buried for many centuries. John D. Rockefeller is now rebuilding this as a lesson to cheer merchants who cannot afford to change to a new "shopping center."

Merchants Must Be Progressive

During Bible days the chief musical instrument was the harp. This gradually developed into the piano. Musical instrument stores, which refused to sell pianos were probably forced out of business. Yet more harps are being sold today than ever before. We once thought that kerosene would kill the candle business; that gas would kill the kerosene business; and that electricity would put gas out of business. Yet more candles, more kerosene, and more gas were sold last year than ever before.

Why do I write this column today?? My reason is to prevent any manufacturer or merchant from hastily giving up without having some expert make a study of his business, prospective parking lots, and needed changes. Such a merchant should not be in a hurry to sell or give up, but it is wise for him to keep out of debt and to advertise. Then he will have very little to worry about. Sometimes I think that when the next business depression does come, it will be due to the worries of manufacturers, retailers, and especially the consumers, who are most important of all.

Demonstrations Feared As Russians Near Olympic Site

Satanic Rule Is Protested By Europeans

1,500 At Melbourne Meeting; Soviets May Arrive Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
MELBOURNE, Nov. 4 (P)—The Russian Olympic team arrived in Melbourne today by ship and air tonight while former citizens of Hungary, Poland and other Iron Curtain countries here staged new demonstrations denouncing what they called the "satanic rule" of the Soviets.

The Russian Olympic games ship Gruzia ended a mysterious week-long radio silence and reported by radio it would dock on Thursday—six days behind schedule.

Contingent Due Today

The first airborne contingent of 66 members is due at Melbourne's Essendon Airport tomorrow.

This flight is 24 hours behind schedule.

Thus ends speculation on participation of the giant Soviet team consisting of 510 competitors and officials, by far the largest group in the games.

However, tensions continued heavily as Olympic officials feared possible demonstrations against the Russians on their arrival although police said no special arrangements have been made for extra police at the airport or ship docks.

Fifteen hundred Hungarians, Poles and other former citizens of Iron Curtain countries held a three hour protest meeting in suburban Melbourne on a cold, windy Sabbath today and passed a resolution asking the United Nations to intervene in the Russian invasion of Hungary.

The group, many in native European costumes, "crowded a large hall festooned with flags and draped with black ribbons for mourning."

Plan Demonstrations
It was reported demonstrations were also planned for the arrival of the first Soviet official party tomorrow.

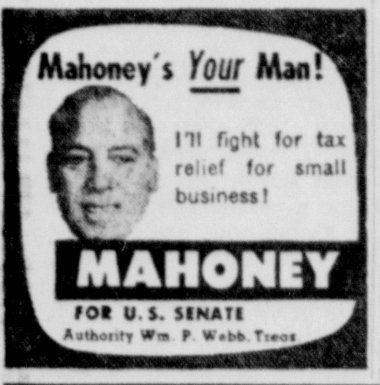

Final preparations for the games continued and athletes continued to pour into the city from distant nations. The weather in the last several days has been cool and rainy with only occasional sunshine.

Thirty-two athletes from Kenya and four from Uganda arrived today for their first appearance in the Olympics. Flag-raising ceremonies for both were scheduled tomorrow as well as for Holland, Chile and India.

The latest count showed 309 competitors on hand from 24 nations.

Dr. Karl P. Heintz Is Finalist In CCC Fall Golf Tourney

Dr. Karl P. Heintz, who was winning golf tournaments at the Cumberland Country Club as far back as 35 years ago, advanced to the finals in the second flight of the fall tournament over the weekend by defeating Rev. Ray Richardson, 4 and 2.

The ageless local dentist, who was one of the incorporators of the Cumberland Country Club in 1919 and excelled as a tennis player before he earned the title of "Cumberland's Mr. Golf," will play Frank Wilkinson in the finals.

Richard Winer captured the fourth flight title by defeating Bert Graham, 1 up on the 18th.

Two matches remain to be played in the third flight. Paul M. Fletcher will meet Zigmund Zimouski in a semi-final test and the winner will play Ivan Hall in the finals.

Cassady, Hart Spark Detroit To 17-13 Win

Pass Interception Halts Forty Niners

By JACK STEVENSON
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (P)—Undefeated Detroit's one-two punch of rookie Hopalong Cassidy and giant Leon Hart powered two long drives as the Lions defeated the San Francisco 49ers 17-13 in a National Football League thriller today.

The cellar-dwelling 49ers missed a bid for victory over the Western Conference leaders in the final two minutes after moving from their 11 to the Detroit goal line. John Henry Johnson went over but a 5-yard offside penalty set San Francisco back to the 6. Detroit halfback Jack Christiansen then intercepted a desperation pass by Hugh McElhenny in the end zone to quell the threat.

Detroit's scoring drives went 71 yards in the second quarter and 90 yards in the third. The 250-pound Hart scored both touchdowns on short plunges. Bobby Layne added the two conversions and a 30-yard field goal.

That offset a 90-yard kickoff return by the 49ers' Joe Arenas, the longest touchdown runback in the team's history, and field goals of 30 and 40 yards by veteran Gordy Soltau.

Detroit quarterback Layne's passing was off today but in both scoring drives he completed key throws to end Jim Doran. The first was good for 14 yards and the second for 17. Otherwise the Lions ground out yardage by rushing to win their sixth straight game.

Detroit scoring—Touchdowns: Hart 2 (3, plunge, 1, plunge). Field goal: Layne (30). Conversions: Layne 2.

San Francisco scoring—Touchdown: Arenas (90, kickoff return). Field goals: Soltau 2 (30, 40). Conversions: Soltau.

Georgia Tech And Tennessee Play Saturday

Sooners Have Easy Road Ahead; Iowa Tests Minnesota

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Oklahoma's Sooners still are supreme, Georgia Tech and Tennessee are accredited contenders for the national title and Iowa no longer is unbeaten.

That's what last weekend's college football action proved as well as setting up showdowns next Saturday for conference championships and bowl trips.

The still-surging Sooners gained their 36th consecutive victory, padding their national record, with a 27-19 decision over Colorado and for all practical purposes packed away their second consecutive unbeaten season.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's defending national champs make it safe to count unhatched chicks. With only Iowa State (2-5), Missouri (3-4), Nebraska (3-4) and Oklahoma A&M (2-3-2) left, the Sooners don't have a thing to worry about if they ever did this season.

The Sooners "blew" a chance to exhibit human qualities by permitting an upset Saturday at Boulder, winding up as much a machine as ever after trailing the Buffs 19-6 at the half. Two quick bursts of 80 and 48 yards produced the clinching touchdowns in the third period.

The tough defeat, however, stamped Colorado as the apparent Big Seven representative in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day (Oklahoma can't make a second consecutive appearance under league rules). The Buffs should know for sure this weekend after meeting Missouri, knocked off 15-14 by Nebraska Saturday. That game's a showdown for runnerup honors.

That's one of but five games this weekend which carry a bowl bonus.

Tech Tackles Vols
Georgia Tech, which outlasted stubborn Duke 7-0, and Tennessee, which showed just enough interest to bang North Carolina 20-0 meet Saturday in what should decide the Southeastern Conference title with the Cotton and Sugar bowls beckoning.

Tech, ranked No. 2 in the nation last week, and Tennessee, No. 3, are each 6-0 for the season.

Iowa and Minnesota clash in the national TV game of the week with the winner a good bet to represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl. Iowa was tumbled 17-14 by Michigan while Minnesota nipped Pitt 9-6 in a non-conference game.

Ohio State, the Big Ten leader, set a record with 16 consecutive victories in the tough conference by defeating Northwestern 6-2. And Michigan State hustled back from its upset by Illinois to thump Wisconsin 33-0. But neither OSU or MSU can make the Pasadena trip—Ohio State is banned by probation, Michigan State by a non-consecutive trip clause.

On the West Coast, Oregon State and Stanford have at it to determine the Pacific Coast Conference host in the Rose Bowl. Oregon State moved into the picture with a 28-20 victory over Washington while Stanford was upset by UCLA 14-13.

Texas A&M and Southern Methodist—a pre-season favorite and a dark horse, respectively—meet with the winner getting a big boost for the title in the Southwest Conference. The league champ is the Cotton Bowl host, although A&M still hasn't been cleared of probation by the NCAA.

The Aggies, unbeaten but tied once for the season, won their sixth with a 27-0 job on Arkansas in what was supposed to have been a tough game. SMU stayed alive with a 20-19 victory over Texas.

Clemson, moving toward the Atlantic Coast Conference title and an Orange Bowl bid opposite the Big Seven entry, rushed past Virginia Tech in a non-league game. Clemson this week meets Maryland, given further woe by Kentucky 14-0.

Syracuse On Top
Syracuse made a big bid for a bowl selection by defeating Penn State 13-9—thus eliminating Penn State and passing Pitt as the top team in the East. In the Ivy League, Princeton and Yale stayed deadlocked for the lead, building more drama for their Nov. 17 meeting. Princeton defeated Brown 21-7 and Yale socked Dartmouth 19-0.

PLAY BETTER TEAMS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. —Weak schedule?

West Virginia University football followers have an answer for the usual complaint against the record of Mountaineer teams. No fewer than five WVU opponents currently are ranked in the nation's top twenty — Miami, Pitt, Penn State, Syracuse and George Washington.

Another Mountaineer foe, Texas, as which was defeated by a 7-6 score, is not ranked nationally this season.

A crowd of 40,000 went wild in Nishinomiya Stadium as the deciding tally crossed the plate.

The Dodgers, who now have a 9-3-1 record in Japan, were held to five hits by three pitchers, who also racked up 12 strikeouts. Jim Gentile fanned four times.

Campbell Sinks Two 35-Foot Putts To Win Mexican Title

West Virginian Gets Two In Row To Whip Joe LeBlanc, 9-8

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 4 (P)—Lean, limber Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., today sank two fantastic 35-foot putts in a row to take home the Mexican National Amateur golf crown.

The U. S. Walker Cup captain evoked a roaring ovation from a gallery as he put a spectacular finale to his never-in-doubt victory over Joe LeBlanc of Toronto, Canada, 9 and 8.

Campbell sank a 35-footer on the afternoon's eighth, but it was his next putt that brought cheers from the spectators and virtually gave the game and the crown to the 33-year-old insurance executive.

Campbell putted a perfect up-green shot, after a drive onto the green of the ninth, and the ball curved gently 35 feet into the cup.

LeBlanc also sank a long one, about the same distance, to halve the hole, but Campbell was too far ahead and Campbell birdied the 28th to take the hole and the tourney.

The West Virginian went into the afternoon round with a six up lead over the Canadian, after having posted a 68, four under par for the 6,734-yard Campste Golf Club course here.

Japan All-Stars Edge Brooks, 3-2

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 4 (P)—The Japan All-Stars jumped on Clem Labine for a run in the last of the ninth inning today to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2. The setback was Brooklyn's third in 13 games on its Japan tour.

Duke Snider's towering 480-foot home run in the top of the ninth tied the score. But the All-Stars quickly loaded the bases in their half on a double, single and base on balls. Then Tetsuji Kawakami of the Yomiuri Giants drove in the winning run with a single to right field.

Cards Giants Win, Remain Tied For Eastern Lead

New Yorkers Top Steelers In 17-14 Tilt

Notch Fourth Win In Row; Perry Is Seriously Injured

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4 (AP)—New York's Giants, bidding for the Eastern Conference title, turned a fumble recovery and a pass interception into touchdowns today for a 17-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers in a National Football League game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Giants and kept them in a first-place deadlock for the Eastern Conference crown with the Chicago Cardinals.

Grab 10-0 Lead
A crowd of 31,240 at Forbes Field saw the Giants jump off to a 10-0 lead in the first half on a touchdown by Alex Webster and Ben Agajanian's 32-yard field goal. Agajanian connected with only 16 seconds remaining in the second quarter.

A pass interception in the end zone by Bill Sobocin and two penalties—one for pass interference on the Steeler five-enabled the Giants to drive 80 yards in 12 plays for the second touchdown in the third quarter.

Quarterback Chuck Conerly hit Kyle Rote with a three-yard pass for the score.

Perry Is Injured
Lowell Perry, the Steelers' fleet-footed rookie right end, was seriously injured in the second period and was hospitalized. He sustained a dislocated left hip and a fractured pelvis when he was tackled hard after picking up a first down on a 23-yard end-around play.

Dick Alban, a Steeler defensive back, injured his right leg in the hard-fought game.

Sid Watson, replacing injured Lynn Chandois at halfback, scored both Steeler touchdowns. He hit off tackle for the first score in the third period and scooted seven yards in the final period. Gary Glick made both conversions.

New York 17, Pittsburgh 14
New York scorers—Touchdowns: Webster (1, plunge); Rote (pass from Conerly). Field goal: Agajanian (32). Conversions: Agajanian 2.

Pittsburgh scorers—Touchdowns: Watson 2 (1, 7, plunges). Conversions: Glick 2.

Redlegs To Play 44 Night Games At Home In 1957

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today announced their 1957 home schedule and said it would include 44 night games.

Last season the Reds scheduled 37 night contests.

As is the custom, Cincinnati will open the season at home, meeting the St. Louis Cardinals on April 16. The same two teams will play here on April 17 and the Reds then will be away for a week.

They'll return April 24 to meet the Chicago Cubs in the first night game of the season.

The schedule also includes 12 Sunday dates with 6 of them being doubleheaders. There also will be a single game with Milwaukee on the Fourth of July and a doubleheader with St. Louis on Labor Day.

Christner's Cops Skill Pool Lead

K. O. Christner's took over sole possession of first place in the Skill Pool League last week by defeating Market Tavern, 6-3.

In other matches Mt. Savage Firemen won over Cresap Tavern, 9-0, Veterans of Foreign Wars topped Allegany Inn, 8-1, and Rice's Tavern whipped the American Legion, 9-0.

Matches scheduled Friday night at 8 o'clock are as follows:

Eagles Lose To Chicago Team, 28-17

McHan Fires Four Touchdown Passes; Matson Stands Out

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Quarterback Lamar McHan fired four touchdown passes in directing the Chicago Cardinals to a 28-17 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles before 27,609 at haze-shrouded Comiskey Park today.

The Cardinals' thus maintained their Eastern division leadership tie with the New York Giants in the National Football League, each with a 5-1 record.

The Giants today defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17-14.

After the Cardinals moved to a 7-3 halftime margin on McHan's 8-yard shot to Don Stensifer, the archlighters had to be turned on in a third period which produced a 29-yard scoring pass from McHan to Gern Nagler and McHan's 16-yard payoff flip to Dave Mann.

Eagles Take 3-0 Lead

The Eagles, who had held a 3-0 first quarter lead on Bob Walston's 39-yard field goal, finally crossed the goal line in the fourth period after Bobby Thomason took over from Adrian Burk.

With Thomason's passing providing most of the impetus, the Eagles scored on drives of 84 and 44 yards with Dick Bielski plunging over from the 2 and 11 yards from the 4.

McHan's fourth touchdown pass was a 4-yard flip to Nagler late in the closing quarter which was marked by a franchise in which the Cards' Lindon Crow and Ollie Matson and the Eagles' Chuck Bednarik were swinging. Players from both teams mingled around the field, but order was quickly restored.

Summer Tan Cops Jamaica Feature, Enters Special

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—The owner and trainer of Summer Tan was considering an invitation today to race the horse in the Washington, D. C., International at Laurel Park, Md. But it was pointed out they had a prior commitment to start in the Pimlico Special 10 days later.

Summer Tan, a top 2-year-old of 1954 and one of Nashua's greatest rivals, ran one of his biggest races yesterday at Jamaica when he won the $84,700 Gallant Fox Handicap in track record time.

"At the moment, we are considering an invitation to Laurel, and if there is any way possible to fulfill our engagement at Pimlico without undue strain on the horse we might consider the International," said Trainer Sherrill Ward.

The $100,000 International, with horses from overseas meeting American runners, is at a mile and one half on the turf course Nov. 12. The $50,000 Pimlico Special is a mile and three-sixteenths on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22.

18 plays with a 19-yard run his longest gain. However, it was McHan's sharp passing, with 11 completions in 16 tries for 123 yards, which whipped the Eagles.

Cardinal scoring—Touchdowns: Stensifer (8, pass from McHan); Nagler 2 (29, pass-run from McHan); 4, pass from McHan; Mann (16, pass from McHan). Conversions: Summerall 4.

Browns Trim Packers, 24-7

Ohioans Snap Three Game Losing Streak

By CHUCK CAPALDO

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, practically ignoring the forward pass in favor of an old-fashioned ground game edited by Preston Carpenter and Ed Medzelewski, battered the Green Bay Packers, 24-7, in a National Football League game today.

A crowd of 28,590 in chill, damp County Stadium watched the Browns hold the Packers scoreless for the first three quarters in ringing up their first victory after three consecutive losses. The Packers now have lost two in a row.

Fumbles Set Up Scores
The Browns, in one of their finest defensive efforts of the season, turned two Packers fumbles into 10 points—enough to win.

Chuck Noll, a 210-pound defensive guard, got the Browns off to a quick, and unexpected lead after a few minutes of play by scooping up a fumble by Al Carmichael, and cruising 39 yards for a touchdown. The half ended with the score knotted at 6-6 after Bill DeArcangelis punted on a 7-yard run. Only 14 minutes remained in the last quarter when Angellatta took off for the winning score.

A fumble on a punt return set up St. Mary's only score in the second period when Allen Lueck smashed over from the 5-yard line. The half ended with the score knotted at 6-6 after Bill DeArcangelis punted on a 7-yard run. Only 14 minutes remained in the last quarter when Angellatta took off for the winning score.

The winners reeled off four first downs, completed four of six passes and gained a total of 140 yards on the ground and through the air lanes. St. Mary's had two first downs, tried six passes, completed nine, had three intercepted and gained 40 yards rushing. Score by periods:

St. Mary's 0 0 0 6—6
St. Patrick's 0 6 0 6—12
Touchdowns: St. Patrick's—DeArcangelis, Angellatta. St. Mary's—Lueck.

Curly Morrison, playing only briefly late in the game, put the Browns on easy street by plunging over from one yard out after busting loose for a 22-yard run on his first play.

Ray Renfro caught a 26-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Babe Parilli, one-time Packer property, in the second quarter. In the final period Lou (The Toe) Groza booted a 14-yard field goal to turn another Packer fumble into points for the Browns.

U.S. Olympic Quint Beats Oilers, 85-61

AUSTIN, Minn., Nov. 4 (AP)—The U. S. Olympic basketball team scored its seventh victory today since starting its fund raising tour by outclassing the Phillips 66 Oilers, 85-61.

Bill Russell, 6-10 center of the San Francisco Dons, led the Olympian output with 20 points, followed by the University of Iowa's Chuck Darling and Burdette Halderson, who each had 15. Jim Ranglo, former University of Colorado star, topped the Oilers with 14 points.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4.—(INS)—It's also working on "World Of Her Own," a "mild Artist film." "Eloise," I don't want to miss. Kay Thompson, who wrote this hilarious book, is composing its TV music score. Besides Ethel, Monty Woolley and Conrad Hilton also play themselves, plus Louis Jourdan supplying glamor. Among such scene stealers, I feel sorry for small Evelyn Rudie battling it out in the title role.

The boys tell me that if they get Hitch, they'll go after Susan Hayward for the top feminine role, and then try to find an unknown beauty for the second woman's part. The director? They've set Winston Jones, who did their "Unidentified Flying Objects." You wanna bet there will be unidentified flying objects all over the set if he starts directing Hitch in a way he doesn't want to go?

Calling Ethel Barrymore to-night to check rumors out of New York that she had suffered a stroke, I found them utterly false. Actually, this magnificent matriarch is busier than she's been in months. Not only is she going to play herself on TV's "Playhouse 90" presentation of "Eloise" November 22, but she

The John Kellys of Philadelphia and Monaco went to see Ethel Merman of "Happy Hunting" when this spoof on a dowager of Philadelphia hunting a royal husband for her blonde daughter, opened there last week. They were definitely not amused. Princess Grace of Monaco's pa and ma are not impersonated in the show, but mentioned by name they surely are, again and again. Grace, herself, sails back to her new land next Wednesday with Prince Rainier. The romantic touch is that she deliberately chose to go on the same ship, the S. S. Constitution, on which she sailed originally toward her wedding. There is no doubt in the minds of any of her friends that Grace is deeply happy.

Last thing John Wayne did before leaving for Rome this past weekend was to sign Vicki Dugan, a New York model, whose only film experience was a bit with Anita Ekberg in "Back To Eternity." Since John has Anita under a similar contract with his firm, Batjac, and whispers have it that she has been getting just a mite difficult, could it be that smart Mr. Wayne thought a beautiful blonde threat around the place might be effective?

Anita and her bridegroom, Anthony Steel, who sailed from London Friday, will be on the Steve Allen show this Sunday.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: When Vice President Nixon and his wife entered swank Perino's Restaurant Thursday evening, the entire room stood up and applauded. Naturally the VP and Mrs. VP like it very much.

Susan Harrison, the unknown signed for the lead in "Sweet Smell Of Success," has kept it unknown that three months ago she married Andre Phillippe, night club singer.

Producer Sam Briskin is now a grandfather. His son, Bernie, and his wife welcomed a baby daughter.

I've always wanted to go to Hong Kong and now I want to more than ever. My column has just started running in the Hong Kong Tiger Standard.

Jennifer Jones and David Selznick, with Tiny Mary Jennifer, will have a white Christmas in Switzerland before David goes to Italy to start "A Farewell To Arms."

Love this idea. Marge and Gower Champion, who expect their first baby by Thanksgiving, are working out "Dance Of The Expectant Father" for their night club act, starting the first of the year.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

When you have a small-boned, well-proportioned face, no part is needed. Nothing is more flattering hair-style than an halo curl cut about three inches all over the head.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Part Of Beauty

While a widow's peak is one of the most natural coveted beauties of the hairline, there are others that can be a great nuisance. For example, a cowlick can be a big annoyance and a troublesome break at the front hairline. To eliminate it, choose a new part for your hair-style.

Try parting the hair well over to one side, either straight or diagonally, depending on which you find most flattering to your face. Some have a cowlick on the crown of the head. For this you'll find a semi-circular parting will disguise this trouble.

It is well to study and experiment with different hair partings. Actually, they can be the most important factor in all hair-styles. They can determine the natural beauty of the hair and the face. On the other hand, if incorrect, they can be most unflattering and even go so far as to give a distortion to the most attractive face.

The woman with a long face or a long nose should never wear a center part. The best is a diagonal side part. This holds true for the very round face. Even the diamond face-type must remember that the center part exaggerates a pointed forehead and chin.

For the round face, a slanting part, starting at the side and going up toward the crown of the head will give an illusion of height and be most flattering. An off-center part, to give an asymmetrical effect to offset squareness is good for what we call the "square face."

Thousands Watch Fire At Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—A two-story brick building housing the Brooks Brothers Hardware Co. and other firms was destroyed by fire last night.

Stocks of paint and light ammunition exploded, shooting flames high in the air. Thousands of people crowded into the West Street business section to watch the blaze.

The fire broke out shortly before 10 p.m., and by about 11 firemen had it under control. They fought successfully to keep it from spreading to a drugstore which flanked it on one side and an empty building—a former automobile agency—on the other.

The building housed a lumber firm and laundromat, and hay and feed was stored there, too.

Speakers Blare Egypt Defiance

CAIRO, Nov. 4.—Loudspeakers mounted on trucks rolled through the streets of Cairo today blaring out defiance to Britain, France and Israel.

Continuous air-raid warnings sounded in the Egyptian capital. Inhabitants watched attacking jet planes twisting and turning in the skies as Egyptian antiaircraft fire, heaviest ever heard, banged away.

A truck moving up Cairo's main street, Kasr el Nil, distributed handbills eagerly grabbed up by passersby. One carried this message:

"We are sure of our strength and our weapons, our strong faith and our right. We all are ready to die for Egypt. We all are soldiers. We all are Gamal Abdel Nasser."

Another declared: "We will be victorious because we are descendants of the glory of our ancestors. You will never die, Egypt! Down with Britain, down with France, down with Israel."

"Darkness and air raids do not scare us. France and Britain do not scare us."

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

HAROLD E. BARB

PARSONS — Harold E. Barb, 64, died Saturday in Tucker County Hospital following an illness of two years.
Born in Barbours County, son of the late James S. and Nancy J. (Moats) Barb, he had resided here since childhood. The co-owner of a grocery store here for many years, he later worked for the C&A Gas Company and had been manager of the H-P Store here from 1943 until his retirement in 1954 because of failing health.
Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Viva (Hart) Barb; three sons, Harold E. Barb Jr., New Lexington, Ohio, and Willard D. and Kenneth R. Barb, both of Cleveland; two daughters, Miss Margaret E. Barb, Painesville, Ohio, and Miss Nancy C. Barb, Highland Park, Ill., a brother, Reuben Barb, Parsons, and four grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Greenleaf Funeral Home where services will be conducted to day at 2 p. m. by Rev. A. Brooks Withers, pastor of Keren's Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. James F. Hubbard, pastor of Parsons Presbyterian Church. Interment will be in Bethel Cemetery, Holly Meadows.

MRS. HARMON SUTHERLAND

BARTON — Mrs. Nora May Sutherland, 79, wife of Harmon Sutherland, died Saturday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., where she had been a patient ten days.
Born in Hampshire County, W. Va., she had resided here 38 years. Mrs. Sutherland was a member of Barton Methodist Church.
Surviving, besides her husband, are five sons, Irving, George, Clifton, Jacob and Theodore Sutherland, all of Barton; a brother, Jacob Saville, Piedmont; a sister, Mrs. Jenny Powell, Wiley, Ford, W. Va., and a half-brother, Harold Sutherland, Franklin, Md.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, where services will be conducted today at 2 p. m. by Rev. Byron W. Kecker, pastor of Barton Methodist Church. Interment will be in Philips Cemetery, Westernport.

Chicago Bears

Chalk Up 5th Straight Win

Pass Interception Sinks Rams, 35-24

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two pass interceptions set up the winning touchdown for the Chicago Bears today as they whipped the Los Angeles Rams 35-24 for their fifth straight victory in the National Football league.
It was, coincidentally, the Rams' fifth straight loss and the first time the Los Angeles team has suffered such a losing streak.
Both key interceptions were off the Rams' passing quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, one in the third quarter by Bear fullback Joe Fortunato and the other in the last period by halfback J. C. Caroline.
The Bears' little halfback Perry Jeter followed up the third period swipe with a nine-yard touchdown run. After Caroline's interception in the last period, Bear quarterback Ed Brown passed 23 yards to fullback Rick Casares on the Ram 7 and again it was Jeter who scored, this time on a double reverse.
Casares was the Bears' leading ground gainer, carrying the ball 25 times for 132 yards. For the Rams it was reliable Tank Younger, lugging the ball 20 times for 72 yards.
The Rams staged a thriller in the second period when halfback Bill Sherman returned a Bear punt 76 yards for a touchdown.
Chicago Bears . . . 7 14 7 7—35
Los Angeles Rams 14 7 3 0—24

Bears scoring — Touchdowns: Hill 2 (57, pass-run from Brown); 13, pass from Blandin; Hoffman (

Heavy Turnout For Election Is Foreseen

Rival Party Chiefs Predict 80% Vote

Leaders of the two political parties in Allegany County were in agreement last night that probably at least 80 per cent of the 40,497 registered voters in the county will go to the polls tomorrow to pull levers on the 103 new voting machines being used this year for the first time.

Voting machines were in use at the primary election in early May but comparatively few of the registered voters took the trouble to vote that day. Consequently, voting by machines will be a new experience for most of the voters.

Four years ago when Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected President over Adlai E. Stevenson, some 34,269 Allegany Countians went to the polls, according to the official count.

Huge Turnout Seen

This year, James E. Getty, chairman of the County Republican Committee, believes as many as 35,000 might vote. That would be almost 87 per cent of those registered, or seven out of every eight.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic Committee, feels confident that at least 32,000, or 80 per cent of those registered, will go to the polls, and he believes the number could come closer to the 34,269 of four years ago.

Two years ago the total vote was 28,141, but then there was no Presidential contest to spur interest.

Conscientious voters who pull all the levers the law allows will make decisions in 10 issues. They will select one of the teams for President and Vice President with one vote, choose between Republican Senator John Marshall Butler and George P. Mahoney, his Democratic opponent, for the U. S. Senate, and make a selection for the House of Representatives between DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican hoping for a third term, and John R. Foley, the Democrat.

Seven Amendments

Also on the ballot are seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution. None has aroused any special public interest although the county Republicans, at a rally last week, endorsed all seven of them.

Question No. 1 would change the regulations upon the councils of counties having the charter form of government so they might legislate during 45 days of each year instead of the present 30 days. Question No. 2, if adopted, would tend to restrict the General Assembly more in the introduction of last-minute legislation. During the long 90-day sessions, introduction of new legislation would be prohibited in the last 20 calendar days instead of the present 10 days, except with suspension of the rules.

If Question No. 3 is approved, the Governor would have to submit interim appointments to the Senate on the first day of the next session instead of waiting 30 days as he now may do. Question No. 4, if adopted, would require all Governors to submit their budgets within 20 days after the General Assembly convenes. Presently, a new Governor is allowed 30 days.

Question No. 5 would eliminate a mass of obsolete, out-moded or incorrect material from the State Constitution. Question No. 6 would eliminate a restriction on absentee voting by ill or disabled persons. If Question No. 7 is approved, judges of Orphans Courts throughout the State would be paid an annual salary instead of on the present per diem for the days on which they actually sit.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Begins

The annual campaign to raise funds for research toward combating the dread disease muscular dystrophy is now in progress in Allegany and Garrett counties. Local firemen were assisted by members of Cumberland Eagles, Elks, and the Civitan Club in distributing canisters throughout the city. Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association also is cooperating in the drive. Individual envelopes will be distributed. Pictured above, left to right standing, are George

MRS. DONALD WORKMAN

Teacher Is Named At Beall High

Mrs. Betty G. Workman of LaVale has been appointed teacher of ninth grade English at Beall High School in Frostburg.

She will replace Mrs. Paula W. Munson of Frostburg, according to Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools of Allegany County. Mrs. Munson was granted a leave of absence.

Mrs. Workman is the wife of Donald Workman, who teaches social studies at Fort Hill High School. She graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1942 and received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education in 1945 from Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Workman has had a number of years of teaching experience. From 1945 to 1946 she taught in elementary grades at Allentown, Pa. and for the next two years taught elementary grades at Silver Spring.

From 1948 to 1949 she taught at Ridgeley High and at Bethesda from 1952 to 1953. The following year she returned to Silver Spring.

Shooting Victim Reported 'Fair'

John Stott, 45, of Frostburg, is reported in "fair" condition at Miners Hospital with a shattered left foot sustained when he apparently shot himself during a disturbance at his home on Saturday afternoon.

Police said he tore up the kitchen at his home and threatened the lives of his wife and of police before wounding himself.

Frostburg Police and Maryland State Police investigated. Stott was taken to the hospital, where attaches said the shot had entered the top of his instep, shattering the bones.

Society To Meet

The Cumberland Choral Society will meet today at 8 p. m. at City Hall.

Poultrymen Plan Tour In Washington County

Final plans have been made for the poultry tour of Washington County on Thursday, according to Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, who said a bus will leave the Court House here at 7 a. m. that day.

Letters have been sent to poultrymen of the count, urging them to take the tour. Richard Stegmaier, local poultryman, Steger, and Wade Rice, poultry specialist of the Extension Service of the University of Maryland, visited Washington County and made plans for the trip.

The first stop at 9:15 a. m. will be at the Wilbur Martin farm near Hagerstown which has 1,000 hyline leghorn layers. The visitors also will see under construction a 150-by-40-foot cement block building featuring an island roost system.

At 10 a. m. the visitors will tour the Adam Martin turkey farm and see 8,500 bronze turkeys on the premises managed by A. H. Rudolph, RFD 3, Greencastle, Pa. Later the Sam Martin farm, RD 6, Hagerstown, will be visited.

Steger said the tourists will see a 40 foot by 150 foot pole poultry house, construction for a brooder house to have a hot water heating system and Kima type insulation roof.

They also will see 3,500 white Leghorn layers housed in a remodeled barn with self-feeders and elevators. Following lunch the visitors will go to the Aden Martin farm at Hagerstown and also the John Corbett poultry farm at Clear Spring.

While at the Corbett farm they will see a bulk mixing plant about 12-tons-per-hour capacity, 7,500 Mt. Hope Leghorn layers, refrigerated egg room, bulk feed truck and grain farm operations.

The party will leave Clear Spring for Cumberland at 3:30 p. m.

Baltimore Symphony To Present Ravel, Tchaikowsky Selections Here Nov. 15

Two compositions that were on the opening program of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra last week at the Lyric in Baltimore will be heard at the local concert November 15 at Fort Hill High School auditorium.

They are Tchaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, and Ravel's "La Valse."

Proceeds of the concert will go to the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Reserved seat tickets are available daily at Sykes Music Store, 22 North Centre Street, and at Vandegrift's Music Shop, 35 Baltimore Street.

Containing portions that are strident and blaring; others melodious and almost singing, and sections of waltz time, pizzicato passages and folk tunes, the popular Tchaikowsky symphony is a favorite of the Baltimore conductor and orchestra personnel. Critics say there is no finer performance of Tchaikowsky's Fourth than the one currently done under Massimo Freccia.

There are three parts to Ravel's "La Valse." The "Birth of the Waltz" opens the composition and in this part the waltz form gradually develops. The middle part, according to the composer, opens up an immense scene of gaiety and opulence, peopled with a swirling crowd of dancers. The waltz theme takes shape, the lights of the chandeliers burst forth and the waltz sounds burst forth.

Butler Cites Press Support

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md.) said tonight "the great majority of Maryland's leading newspapers have expressly endorsed my candidacy for reelection to the United States Senate."

In a statement, his headquarters listed 20 Maryland papers which it said have expressed preference for Butler in the last 10 days in his race against Democrat George P. Mahoney.

This newspaper support, said Butler in the statement, "makes me confident beyond any doubt that the curtain is about to be rung down on the last performance of Mr. Mahoney's cheap political side show."

Newspapers listed as backing Butler were: Baltimore Sunpapers, Baltimore News-Post, Annapolis Capital Gazette, Salisbury Times, Glen Burnie News, Brooklyn News, Maryland Independent, Union News, Baltimore Afro-American, Cecil Whig.

Catoctin Enterprise, Maryland Gazette, Valley Register, The Republican, Waldorf Leaf, Cumberland News, Community Reporter, Annapolis Evening Capital, Hagerstown Morning Herald, and Sykesville Herald.

Bought After Primary

"Shortly after the Maryland primary—and I emphasize the time—the defeated contender Mahoney started looking around for property in Florida.

"In late July or early August he found what he was looking for—a 3,320-acre ranch in Marion County near Ocala.

"Now the latter part of August brought a change in the political fortunes of George P. Mahoney. Having ruthlessly gained control of his party machinery, he became the Senatorial candidate when Mr. Tydings was forced to retire for reasons of ill health.

"This necessitated a postponement of any plans for moving to Florida until after election day—Nov. 6.

"The facts in this case are plain for all Marylanders to see. George P. Mahoney dislikes Maryland because he cannot attain his political ambitions here. Repeatedly the voters of his own party have rejected him. So, in effect, he says Maryland, good-bye! and he looks for greener political fields.

"Absolutely Fantastic"

Mahoney said that "to suggest that I was planning to leave my simo, as the composition moves into the final part called "The Apotheosis of the Waltz."

Maestro Freccia has taken three Fritz Kreisler violin compositions and scored them for full orchestra. These three beautiful numbers will also be included in the Cumberland concert. They are "Liebeslied," "Caprice Viennois" and "Tambourin Chinois."

The opening overture has not yet been selected, but the popular enthusiasm over last year's "Light Cavalry Overture" (Von Suppe) indicates selection of another Von Suppe composition, "Morning, Noon and Night."

Hard-Fought Md. Senate Campaign In Final Round

Florida Ranch Of Mahoney Is Campaign 'Issue'

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—A 3,320-acre ranch in central Florida suddenly has become an issue—real or imaginary—in the Maryland senatorial election.

The ranch was purchased in early August by George P. Mahoney, Democratic senatorial candidate.

Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler said Saturday that if "Mahoney was seeking investments in farm property it is logical that a loyal Marylander would have first looked in his own back yard."

The facts... are plain... George P. Mahoney dislikes Maryland because he cannot attain his political ambitions here.

Mahoney replied that the purchase "has been public knowledge for some time," that it was purely an investment and "to raise it as a bogus campaign issue almost on election eve... is, indeed, positive proof of what I have been saying all during this campaign: neither John Marshall Butler's character nor his campaign methods have improved since the 1950 'backstreet' campaign."

May Move If Defeated

Butler opened the battle with a statement predicting that Mahoney, if defeated Tuesday, would move to Florida. "Mahoney would probably already be a Floridian had it not been for the circumstances which compelled ex-Sen. Millard Tydings to withdraw from the race," he said.

Tydings defeated Mahoney for the senatorial nomination in a close primary, only to come down with shingles and be forced to withdraw. The State Democratic Committee named Mahoney to take Tydings' place.

Throughout the campaign, Mahoney has made an issue of tactics used by Butler forces in defeating Tydings in the 1950 campaign. Some of these tactics were criticized by a Senate elections subcommittee as being of the "backstreet" variety.

Butler, in his statement yesterday, said: "For the past six years, thousands of Marylanders have been trying to find a way to get rid of Mahoney. He has given them the answer."

Butler said that "the facts in this case are plain for all Marylanders to see. George P. Mahoney dislikes Maryland because he cannot attain his political ambitions here. Second Brother Hurt In Plane Crash Dies

Third Victim Listed Critical

Two brothers, one of them a Ridgeley, W. Va., man, died of injuries sustained in a private plane crash Saturday afternoon 10 miles south of North Wilkesboro, N. C.

John H. Armentrout, 48, of Carpenter's Addition, died en route to Wilkes General Hospital, North Wilkesboro. His brother, Hansel Armentrout, 43, of Parsons, W. Va., died early yesterday morning in the hospital there of extensive injuries.

A third brother, Russell Armentrout, 37, of Morgantown, N. C., who was pilot of the plane, remains in "critical" condition in the hospital.

Hit Pole, Wires

Residents of the community said the four-engine plane had just taken off when the engine apparently failed. The pilot tried to land in a hayfield near the airport but struck a utility pole and high tension wires.

Another brother, Melvin Armentrout, Parsons, who accompanied John and Hansel on the visit to their brother Russell's home in North Carolina, decided at the last minute to remain and go up on the next trip.

John Armentrout was born in Pendleton County, W. Va., a son of Mrs. Emma (Good) Armentrout, Parsons, and the late Robert L. Armentrout.

He was employed as a fireman for the Western Maryland Railway, and was married to Mary M. (Auvil) Armentrout. He was a member of Calvary Methodist Church, the brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and was a member of the Owls Club, Nest 90.

Surviving, in addition to his mother and widow, are three daughters, Mrs. Paul Lockard, Ridgeley, and Mary Phyllis and Johnna Frances, both at home; four brothers, Forrest and Melvin, both of Parsons; Hubert, Elkins, W. Va., and Russell, and a sister, Mrs. Samuel Hehle, Parsons.

Funerals Wednesday

The body will be at the George Funeral Home this afternoon and will be taken to the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Parsons, tomorrow morning.

Hansel was born at Mouth of Seneca and was employed as a carpenter and plumber at Parsons. His widow is Paige (DiBacco) Armentrout. He is also survived by two sons, Raymond Lee and Timothy, both at home.

He was a member of the Methodist Church; Parsons Lodge 804, Loyal Order of Moose; BPO Eagles, Lodge 1135, Elkins; General Barnett Post 4322, VFW, and was a member of Cheat Valley Post 101, American Legion.

Double funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Greenleaf Funeral Home by Rev. Harold May, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, and Rev. Connie Dickens, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, Parsons. Burial will be in Parsons Cemetery.

Turn On The Light As A Vote Reminder

The American Legion is urging residents of the nation to turn on their porch light tonight from 8 o'clock to 9 o'clock to remind their neighbors to vote tomorrow during the general election.

The matter was discussed, according to Charles Bender, Mountain District Vice Commander, during a Maryland Department Executive Committee meeting held yesterday in Hagerstown.

Should Politics Be Godless?

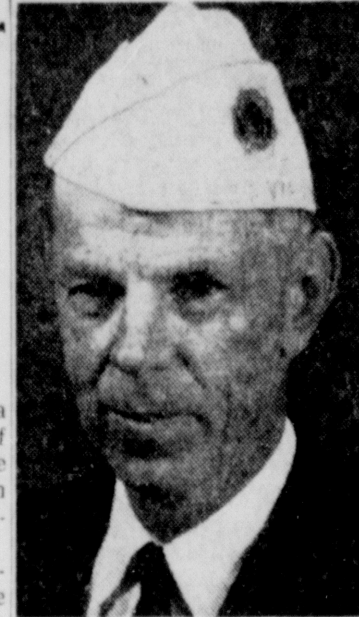

BY REV. WILLIAM R. SNYDER

Near the end of his political career a renowned British statesman spoke to a group of college students. After his speech one of the students asked the venerable gentleman to sum up in one statement the advice he would give to any young man about to enter the political arena. Immediately the master statesman replied with the words of St. Paul, "Have that mind in you which was in Christ Jesus, our Lord." This above all things is necessary for him who would govern others.

Only if we have men with the mind of Christ in public office will we keep our cherished freedom. For He alone is the source of true freedom. Men, being imperfect, could never have given birth to a perfect freedom. Freedom, as we know it and enjoy it, was unknown until the Master Sower first sowed the seeds of freedom in Palestine. Jesus sought to free men politically by freeing them spiritually. He knew full well that if the souls of men were free their political freedom would only be a matter of time. Therefore, as far as Christ was concerned, true religious freedom brings forth true political freedom.

When our founding fathers met in Philadelphia they were spiritually free and so they promulgated precepts which would make men politically free. They refused to let their differences keep them from passing those principles of government which were so sorely needed for our citizens at that crucial time in history. Externally they were different: Democrats and Whigs or Republicans; Northerners and Southerners; farmers and industrialists. But the mind of Christ captivated

E. D. HARDMAN

Ridgeley Legion Will Dedicate Honor Roll

E. D. Hardman of Charleston, department commander of the American Legion in West Virginia, will be the guest speaker during the dedicatory ceremony of the Honor Roll at Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley, next Monday, November 12, in observance of Veterans Day.

The program, according to Archie Lough, commander of the Ridgeley post, will begin at 11 a. m. with Taps by two buglers from Kelly-Lansfield Post 52 of Piedmont.

Prior to the dedication of the Honor Roll, which has been placed on the front lawn of the post home, a concert will be presented by the Bruce High School Band of Westernport.

Master of ceremonies, who will introduce Department Commander Hardman, will be Raymond Lee, 10th District vice commander, of the Piedmont post.

Invocation and benediction are also being planned for the occasion, which is open to the public. The names of those who will be placed on the Roll include:

William Shuck Jr., holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Korean conflict; and Kenneth Baker, William Cline, William F. Kincaid, Richard Duer, Charles Wood, Robert Galford, Fred Digma, Richard Spence, John Derosa and Louis Derosa, who died in the service in World War II.

Members of the post who have died since their discharge from the service include Alva Diehl, Calvin Mardorf, Paul H. Klein, J. Leo Dougherty, David Bootman, Emil Comer, Myrle Zimmerman and James Dittmer Jr.

Commander Hardman, a member of John Bravley Post 20, was elected to that post during the 38th annual convention held this year in Huntington, W. Va.

Served In World War II

A native of Fonzo, Ritchie County, he received his early education in the Ritchie county schools and later went to work in a glass factory in Grafton and in the oil fields of southern West Virginia before locating in Charleston, where he is in the real estate and insurance business.

He entered the Army in 1942 and was assigned to the Caribbean area after basic training. In 1946 he became active in the Charleston Legion post, having served as post commander in 1949 and 1950.

Active in the 40-8 Society, he is a past grand chief de gare of the Grand Vulture de West Virginia and prior to the election to his present office served as chairman of the Department Highway Safety Committee.

Commander Lough said that after the dedication ceremony a buffet luncheon will be served to the out-of-town guests, the school band and members of the post. "Open house" will be held during the afternoon.

Kenney Will Speak

Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local office of the Department of Employment Security, will be the guest speaker Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA during the weekly luncheon of the Cumberland Lions Club. His topic of discussion will be "The Employment Security Program."

Night school students, most of whom are not yet eligible to vote and who ostensibly expressed con- fictions of their parents, gave Eisenhower 72 per cent of their votes, while Stevenson received twenty-eight per cent. Butler received 61 per cent against Mahoney's thirty-nine per cent, and Hyde polled 64 per cent against Foley's thirty-six per cent.

Night school students, most of whom are not yet eligible to vote and who ostensibly expressed con- fictions of their parents, gave Eisenhower 66 2/3 per cent of their votes against 33 1/3 per cent for Stevenson; Butler received fifty-seven against Mahoney's 43 per cent; and Hyde polled 59 per cent against Foley's 41 per cent.

School Children To Get Holiday As Parents Vote

While their parents go to the polls tomorrow to vote in the general election, children in the public schools of Allegany County will be enjoying a holiday from the classroom. Many schools are used as polling places.

However, children of the parochial schools of Cumberland will not be as fortunate, as it will be just another school day for them.

Allegany County Court House will be closed tomorrow and the County Commissioners will meet on Wednesday from 10 a. m. until noon.

Remains Critical

Duck Ashley Watkins, 21, of Buckhannon, W. Va., remains semi-conscious and in critical condition at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted Thursday night with injuries suffered when he was thrown from a car he was driving on U. S. Route 40 at Red Hill west of Cumberland.
